

Gen. Apathy in Charge of Election Compromise On Upper Silesia Alleged Booze Joint Closed

Lloyd George and Briand Agree On Upper Silesia Boundary Line at Private Meeting in Paris

REINFORCEMENTS NOT TO BE SENT

Decision on Boundary Expected to be Ratified by Allied Supreme Council

PARIS, Aug. 9.—(By the Associated Press) Premiers Briand and Lloyd George have decided at a private meeting upon a compromise partition of Upper Silesia. It was declared here today on good authority.

The compromise boundary line is understood to have been drawn approximately as follows:

Beginning west of Pless on the Vistula river and running west of Gliwicz, west of Tost and Gross-Strehlitz north to between Rosenberg and Kreuzburg, and thence to the frontier of northern Upper Silesia.

This line, while by no means a straight one, approximately bisects the Silesian plebsello area.

The reputed agreement must be formally ratified by the supreme council and the possibility of this action at the late afternoon session today was forecast. At this time the geographical experts of the French, British and Italian delegations, who were engaged in the early afternoon hours in considering the precise marking of the line, were expected to have ready the reports they had been instructed to make.

Not to Send Reinforcements
It was upon the private settlement being reached, it is understood, that the council decided not to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia at present, the British and Italian representatives voting against France.

The better was expressed that both Germany and Poland would accept the council's decision.

Mr. Lloyd George informed the council of the line the British were now willing to accept and the experts were instructed to allocate to one side or the other certain townships remaining in dispute.

Medford Man and Somerville Woman Dangerously Injured in Auto Accident

Charles E. Phelan of 53 Wareham street, Medford, and Miss Ethel McCormack of 3 Cartridge avenue, Somerville, are in a dangerous condition at St. John's hospital as a result of a motorcycle accident, which occurred last evening in Rogers street. Phelan is suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations of the thigh, while Miss McCormack's injuries consist of concussion of the brain and abrasions of the right leg.

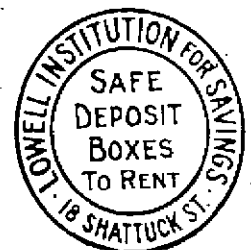

The accident occurred shortly before 9:30 o'clock, while the motorcycle with Phelan at the wheel and the woman in the sidecar, was speeding towards Tewksbury. It is claimed that the cycle crashed into a wagon driven by Jesse Kemp and the two occupants of the cycle were thrown to the ground. Charles Melie, who happened along in his automobile, rushed the injured to the hospital.

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Dist. Atty. Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county today testified to his bank deposits and to expenditures of funds in connection with restitution for losses incurred by purchasers of stolen automobiles. Taking the stand again before the full bench of the supreme court in Atty. Gen. Allen's proceedings to give him removed for alleged misuse of office, Tufts told of sums involved in restitution activities from 1917 to the present time.

Only four deposits of $1000 or more made by him in the past four years he cannot explain. Tufts said, suggesting that his stenographer who kept records of his deposits and receipts could give the desired information.

Much of the ground previously covered in the trial was gone over again with Tufts in detail.

General apathy started in as commander in chief of today's election to determine whether future work on the streets and sidewalks of the city shall be done by contractors or by the city itself. He remained in control of the situation until early in the afternoon. The hopeful opinion was expressed by representatives of both sides of the question that a heavy vote might develop late in the afternoon. In nearly all of the precincts the vote up to noon had been far below that usually cast at city elections. The election was not without its interesting features despite an apparent indifference on the part of the voters to outthrust over the issue involved.

Literature Distributed
In several of the precincts the law which forbids the distribution of election matter within 100 feet, or less, of a public polling place was apparently being more honored in the breach than the observance. That a law to the effect is still in existence was verified by a statement coming from the election commissioners' office.

BOY DROWNED IN THE CONCORD RIVER

Albert Butterfield, aged about six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Butterfield of Elm street, North Billerica, was drowned in the Concord river this forenoon, while playing on a log with a companion. The little fellow was taken out of the water shortly after the accident, but the efforts of City Physician M. A. Tighe of this city with the pulmotor failed to bring him back to life, and the body was later removed to the home of the parents.

As far as could be learned, the Butterfield boy with a companion, Thomas Taylor, was playing on a log in the river in the rear of Talbot mills shortly after 11 o'clock. The Butterfield boy lost his footing and fell into the water. Taylor shouted for help and several boys who heard the outcries rushed to the scene of the accident and, diving themselves of their clothes, plunged into the water. After considerable effort they succeeded in bringing the little fellow to shore and a hurried call was sent to this city for the pulmotor.

HELD SPECIAL MEETING

Election Board Refers Ballot Defacement Question to the City Solicitor

The election commission, in special meeting this morning, disclaimed any knowledge of the publication in a local Sunday newspaper of a specimen ballot for today's special election and referred to the city solicitor the legal part of the inquiry and charges of an alleged violation of the state election laws brought by George F. Wells, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

The net result of the meeting, which was attended by the full board, is contained in the following letter, addressed to Secretary Wells:

Dear Sir:—
In regard to your communication of the 8th inst., we would say that the legal part of your inquiry has been referred to the city solicitor and the other part, which concerns the election commission, we would disclaim any knowledge of and certainly by the said advertisement was not issued with our approval.

Very truly yours,
LOWELL ELECTION COM.

By J. Omer Allard.
At the close of the meeting, Hugh C. McOsker, chairman of the board of election commissioners, expressed the opinion that it was hardly fair for the secretary of the chamber of commerce to insinuate that the commission had any knowledge of the alleged publication and added that once a specimen ballot passes out of the hands of the commission, no responsibility can thereafter exist.

Stirred to action by comments from the bench by Judge Thomas J. Enright yesterday morning, relative to an alleged liquor nuisance on Thorndike street into which His Honor said he saw a clean-cut soldier apparently lured by a "spotter," Mayor Perry D. Thompson, and the liquor and vice squads of the local police department last night took vigorous action against the resort, and the owner of the property on which it is located, locked the door this morning. Today the place is shut up "tighter than a drum." Developments came thick and fast in the case, immediately the first edition of The Sun was on the street. A search warrant was sworn out by Officer Winn of the liquor squad and Officer Moore of the vice squad, and about nine o'clock last evening the place, a "near-beer" saloon, was raided. No liquor was found.

THE PACKING INDUSTRY

Post-War Adjustment About Completed, Says Pres.

Thos. E. Wilson

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The packing industry has about completed its post-war readjustment and the position of both producer and packer should improve rapidly, Thomas E. Wilson, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers told hundreds of packers from all sections of the country in opening a three-day annual convention today.

Mr. Wilson presented a survey of 170 non-packer industries which he compared with a survey of packing companies to show that the non-packers did less than four times as much business as the packers and made more than 100 times as much profit. The packing companies surveyed earned profits of $7,510,063 on an investment of approximately $50,000,000 and sales of $3,018,002,000, he said.

He also presented a table to show price declines in wholesale meat products during the past year ranging from 16 per cent. to 47 per cent. Nearly all by-products are lower than in 1913, he asserted.

"The decline of packing house products," Mr. Wilson asserted, "should be conclusive proof of the statements made by the packers that the business is governed by the law of supply and demand, and is not and cannot be artificially controlled."

The producer and packer both have suffered losses through the decline in values, he said, and he also called attention to the decrease in export of meat products, stating that there was a loss of 1,270,000,000 pounds in 1920 as compared with 1919, representing a loss in values of $326,013,156. Furthermore, the per capita consumption of meat and lard in the United States in 1920 was 154.3 pounds as compared with 163.3 pounds in 1919, representing a potential loss of 1,318,000,000 pounds.

Mr. Wilson presented figures to show the production of live stock is not keeping pace with the growth of population and that there has been a shrinkage in the quantity of meat products held in storage.

Conditions generally should improve when congress has settled the tariff, taxation and other important problems, he speaker said, and he asserted that an agreement on limited armaments among the nations, if successful, would turn millions of wealth to pursuits of peace and industry.

HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $350

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Henry P. Morrison of Kinnaird street, Cambridgeport, reported at station 2, Cambridge, last evening, that he had been held up by three colored men and robbed of $350 which he had withdrawn at 1 o'clock from the Cambridge Savings bank.

He stated that he passed down Magazine and Auburn streets, a roundabout way, to visit his brother, who works at the Brigham company, Albany street and Massachusetts avenue. As he reached Auburn and Sydney streets, he was held up and robbed.

Mr. Nordgren a purse of gold, while Mrs. Nordgren and her daughter were remembered with a bouquet of flowers and a box of candy. THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

Lowell, Mass.—"I had anemia from the time I was sixteen years old and was very irregular. If I did any house-cleaning or washing I would faint and have to be put to bed, my husband thinking every minute was my last. After reading your text-book for women I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and have never felt better than I have the last two years. I can work, eat, sleep, and feel as strong as can be. Doctors told me I could never have children—I was too weak—but after taking Vegetable Compound it strengthened me so I gave birth to an eight pound boy. I was well all the time, did all my work up to the last day, and had a natural birth. Everybody who knew me was surprised, and when they ask me what made me strong I tell them what great pleasure, 'I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never felt better in my life.' Use this text-book at any time."—Mrs. ELIZABETH SMART, 142 W. Sixth St., Lowell, Mass. This experience of Mrs. Smart is surely a strong recommendation for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is only one of a great many similar cases.

Fight Between Wolf and Man Is the Thriller in "Shame"

JOHN GILBERT AND DO RIS PAWN IN "SHAME"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A good fight always helps things along. It puts pep into the celluloid. And the movie fans evidently like it.

Which probably explains several rather stirring battles thrown in weaved into the picture, the audience before social ostracism comes. His wife follows and says she doesn't care. Of course, she is just as happy as he is when they learn he's as white as the Alaskan snow.

Speaking of snow, there are some stirring snowstorm scenes in Alaska, and color photography is used for the "Feast of the Lanterns" scene in Shanghai and for the New Year's celebration in San Francisco's Chinatown.

A REAL REEL FIGHT
Fights in the movies are not always make-believe. An extra man threatened to sue Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, because he claims his jaw was fractured by a blow Meighan hit him during the making of a fight scene in "Cappy Ricks." It was a saloon brawl, and the extra man says Meighan put too much steam behind the wallop.

BOY TRAIN WRECKER HELD FOR MURDER

JOHN ARRE, SIGNING HIS CONFESSION TO WRECKING THE LACKAWANNA LIMITED, AND THE WRECK HE CAUSED.

HIS GREAT AMBITION WAS TO WRECK A TRAIN

Copyright, 1921, by The Lowell Sun
 SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 9.—John Arre is the son of a village blacksmith, a 14-year-old lad with a passion for smashing things.

His great ambition was to wreck a train.

Day after day, according to the signed confession he has made to police, he placed metal objects of one sort and another on the tracks.

Finally he achieved his aim—and ditched the Lackawanna Limited at Glenburn, causing a loss of twelve lives and injuries to 30 persons.

Seeing that disaster from the top of an apple tree merely whetted his ambition—and two days later he was caught in the act of trying to repeat the performance.

Now he is in the house of detention of juvenile court, waiting trial for murder. When reminded that his act cost the lives of two engineers, Chas. D. Conlough and Jacob Gleishmann, the boy merely says:

"That's too bad."

What disposition to make of his case is puzzling authorities.

AMERICAN SCHOOLS AID THE BALKANS

WILLIAMSTOWN, Aug. 9.—The spiritual and normal influence of American schools in the Balkans was highly praised by M. Panaretov, former Bulgarian minister to the United States. In his lecture before the Institute of Politics at Williams college last night, he traced the great difficulties under which education in the near east had labored for years and added:

As in America, so in the near east, American education aims at imparting to those who come under its influence a love for honest work, perseverance, self-reliance, individualism, broadness of view and a spirit of tolerance. So far as instruction goes it cannot be denied that with the present equipment which they possess and with a corps of instructors a great many of whom have a university education, the native institutions of learning do not fall below the American; but it is universally recognized that the spiritual and moral influence of the native schools leaves much to be desired, and it is in this particular that the American schools stand on a much higher level.

The speaker called attention to the rapid spread of education among the Christians of the Balkans, far outstripping the Turks who he said were very backward and were, in general, not eager for learning.

Berton Braxley's Daily Poem Well Informed

Old Adam knew Eve in a sort of way
 As well as a man could know
 Who's lived with a woman night and day
 For ever he shook his head in doubt
 And muttered, "I don't believe
 As long as I live that I'll make out
 The ways of that woman, Eve."

But that was ages and ages back,
 And ever since, men have tried,
 To probe the feminine brain,
 Keep track
 Of what went on inside;
 With mountains of paper, oceans
 of ink.

COLLECT $9,393,020.77 IN STATE TAXES

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—In an accounting made by Henry F. Long, commissioner of corporations and taxation, covering the period between Dec. 1, 1920, to July 31, 1921, it is shown that a total of $9,393,020.77 has already been collected in taxes this year with the bills for corporation and income taxes still to be sent out. It was estimated by Thomas W. White, supervisor that the total tax income would be $15,000,000 which would leave approximately $5,000,000 to be collected.

Commissioner Long thinks that the corporation taxes this year will not exceed $9,000,000, because of the industrial depression. Five-sixths of this tax is distributed to the towns and cities by Nov. 15 to save them borrowing money against the taxes at high rates of interest. So far the income from inheritance taxes has been $4,600,000, with $2,000,000 more expected before the end of the year. The revenue from this tax was estimated at $1,500,000. Taxation of deposits in savings banks will amount to about $2,200,000, of which about half has been paid into the treasury. Bills for income taxes will soon be sent out. The income from this tax is placed by Commissioner Long at $13,500,000. No part of this tax is kept by the state treasury, except the cost of collecting it, which this year is calculated at $443,000. It is thought possible that the taxation of shares held by nonresidents of Massachusetts National banks may be unconstitutional, as a similar law in one of the southern states was so held to be by the United States supreme court.

Mr. Long declared himself impressed by the fairness of the public and their desire to pay their share of all taxes. As illustration, he said that the public had paid more than $1,000,000 in income taxes before April 1, thereby saving the state about $57,000 in interest charges.

DROP SODA AND ICE CREAM TAXES

Would Also Repeal Taxes on Wearing Apparel and Cut Sporting Goods Tax

Agreement Reached by Republican Members of House Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Having agreed to the elimination of the soda fountain, ice cream and so-called luxury taxes on wearing apparel and to a 50 per cent cut in the levy on sporting goods, republican members of the ways and means committee returned today to the job of revenue revision determined to make further reductions in the total tax the American people will be called upon to pay this fiscal year.

Not Transportation Levies
 A 50 per cent cut in the transportation levies, both passenger and freight, was declared to be practically a certainty. Those members who heretofore have urged immediate repeal of all of these taxes were understood to be prepared to press their point with the argument that this could be done readily if repeal of the excess profits and higher surtaxes is delayed until next January 1 as is now proposed.

The total loss of revenue involved in cutting off the transportation taxes was estimated at $260,000,000, or less. It was claimed that the loss that would be entailed this year through making the repeal of the excess profits and higher income surtaxes retroactive to last January 1. It also was urged that the cutting off of the levies on freight and passenger traffic would prove of real help to business through savings in freight charges and in expenses of traveling salesmen.

Formal agreement among the majority members as to the total that will be absolutely necessary to run this government this fiscal year, has not yet been reached and it was said that further specific tax cuts might await such an agreement. There also was talk of conferences with President Harding to obtain his advice in the solution of the major problems before the committee.

Democratic Study Question
 Having been excluded from participation in the framing of the bill, democratic members of the committee are giving independent study to the revision question. Representative Kitchen, the democratic leader, is detained at his home in North Carolina by illness.

Representative Garner of Texas, the ranking democrat on the committee in the absence of Mr. Kitchen, came out today for full repeal of the transportation taxes and the so-called nuisance taxes, including the 10 per cent tax on bottled soft drinks, and against new or increased taxes suggested by Secretary Mellon.

The Texas member also is of the opinion that a much greater return can be had from back taxes than the treasury has estimated. He thinks that instead of the $235,000,000 given in Mr. Mellon's statement to the committee nearly $500,000,000 can be obtained from this source this fiscal year.

Reductions Agreed Upon
 The wearing apparel levies proposed for repeal are 10 per cent. of the amount by which the cost of women's and misses' hats, bonnets and hoods exceed $15 each; women's and misses' silk stockings or hose exceed $20 per pair; men's, women's, misses' and boys' boots, shoes, pumps and slippers exceed $10 per pair; men's and boys' silk stockings or hose exceed $2 per pair; men's shirts exceed $2 each; men's and boys' hats exceed $5 each; men's and boys' caps exceed $2 each; men's and boys' neckties and neckwear exceed $2 each; men's, women's, misses' and boys' pajamas, nightgowns and underwear exceed $5 each; kimono, petticoats and waists exceed $15 each; men's waistcoats, sold separately from suits, exceed $5 each; and house or smoking coats or jackets and bathrobes or lounging robes exceed $15 each.

The sporting goods on which it is proposed to cut the tax in half include: Tennis rackets, nets, racket covers and presses, skates, snow shoes, skis, toboggans, canoe paddles and cushions, polo mallets, baseball bats, gloves, masks, protectors, shoes and uniforms, football helmets and harness and goals, basketball goals and uniforms, golf bags and clubs, lacrosse sticks, balls of all kinds, including baseballs, footballs, tennis, golf, lacrosse, billiard and pool balls, fishing rods and reels, bicycle and pool tables, chess and checker boards and pieces, dice, games and parts of games (except playing cards and children's tops and games), and all similar articles.

To Cut Expenses $579,000,000
 Repeat of the 10 per cent. tax on carbonated bottled beverages, which is collected and paid by the manufacturer monthly, also was discussed at the meeting, and favorable action was predicted by some members of the committee.

It is understood there was a suggestion that the committee go over the whole situation very frankly with President Harding and Secretary Mellon, urging that the executive departments hold down rigidly on expenditures. So far as was disclosed no action was taken.

Estimates before the committee yesterday were said to have contemplated total cuts of approximately $579,000,000 in probable expenditures for this fiscal year, leaving the total at $2,905,000,000, exclusive of postal, estimated at $578,000,000.

Reductions proposed included $75,000,000 for the army, $57,000,000 for the navy, $100,000,000 for the shipping board, $245,000,000 for the railroads and $100,000,000 proposed by the treasury to be employed in redeeming war savings securities.

A few committeemen expressed the view yesterday that the completed bill would be ready for the house by the end of this week.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING
 A special meeting of the municipal council has been called for the approval of monthly bills, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. It was believed that additional bills to be charged to the construction of Central bridge would come up for approval, but the city auditor has not required any statement from the company at yet.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Upon acceptance being received from Italy and China of the suggestion that the disarmament conference be convened Nov. 11, Armistice Day, the attention of administration officials yesterday was centered largely on the physical features of the meeting.

The Japanese government has not given official notification of its acceptance of the proposed date, but assurances in press dispatches from Tokyo that no objection would be offered has convinced officials at the state department that Japan will join the remaining powers in accepting the date.

Just how the expenses of the conference are to be apportioned has not been definitely determined. Secretary Hughes, it is believed, will dispatch within a few days the formal invitations to the conference and it is possible that the wording of the invitations may make it clear to the invited powers whether they will be expected to come as guests of the American government or merely as conferees who expect to pay their own bills.

That question and others pertaining to personnel are said not to have been subjects of interchange of opinion. How many delegates will represent any separate government probably will be left to the judgment of the respective powers, although there is evidence a feeling in official circles here that there will probably be equal representation.

State department officials yesterday were preparing tentative estimates in an attempt to find some basis upon which director of the budget Daves can fix the amount that will be required for the conference. The one item of printing already has proved to be awkward, since it is impossible to forecast how long the conference will last or what the volume of printed words will be. The bill for printing of the financial congress a few years ago was about $100,000.

Where the foreign delegation, which it is expected, will include scores of experts and clerical assistants, will be housed and where the main meetings and the subsidiary meetings will be held are other features that are now occupying the attention of officials. The senate office building has been suggested as a meeting place, as has the building of the Pan-American union.

ALASKA GOING AT FULL SPEED DESPITE FOG

EUREKA, Cal., Aug. 8.—First admission by an officer that the steamship Alaska was proceeding under full speed despite the heavy fog when she crashed on Rhin's reef, Saturday night, was made yesterday by S. A. Carlson, third assistant engineer. In testimony he gave at an inquest, Carlson said he was on duty when the ship struck.

The body was found yesterday. Late yesterday an inquest over the body of Charles Heane, chief steward, was held. George Goodall, a passenger of Spokane in his testimony said members of the crew became demoralized when it came to handling the lifeboats. He declared the lifeboats were not in proper condition.

15 PERISHED IN FREIGHT WRECK

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 8.—Fifteen men, unauthorized persons aboard, are believed to have burned to death in the wreck of Gulf Coast Line freight train No. 32, east-bound, near de Quincey, La., yesterday, according to advice received at the general offices of the railroad company here last night. Work of clearing the debris is proceeding. The bodies are burned beyond recognition.

NEW LAKEVIEW PARK

The month of August is bound to be the banner period of the season at Lakeview. All records for attendance were smashed in the first week, and the attendance yesterday was far ahead of the average Monday, August 1, as the real vacation month of the year, and that fact accounts for the growing crowds, but it is also true that people who have been acquiring the Lakeview habit all season, and are now just naturally turning towards the big picnic resort for amusement, Wednesday and Friday, Mrs. Ferrin will give free dancing instruction.

on the same ground so closely intermingled that no boundary line can be drawn which would not leave villages of one nationality within the territories which the preponderance of another nationality makes it proper to assign to that other. There are also cases in which strategic and physical facts may justify a deviation from the principle of nationality and such a deviation was properly made when the region around Gorizia was assigned to Italy.

Grave Errors Committed

"As I have already dealt with some of these cases, I will be content with pointing out that grave errors have been committed (among others) in the case of the Bulgarians in Macedonia and the Magyars in Transylvania and Hungary, to which I must add, much as I regret to be obliged to differ with a friend for whom I have great respect and regard as I have for Signor Tittoni, the German speaking population of the southern Tyrol. If we could call up the noble and righteous spirit of Mazzini to decide that issue both of us would abide by his decision."

Concerning the influence which radical revolution propaganda, and lies might have upon international relations, Lord Bryce said, referring to Russia:

"Whatever be the fate of this form of communism—which is said to have extended its activities as far as Winnipeg in the west and India in the east—it is probable that speculative economic theories may play a large part in the future of the world. The political parties as to toll upon the foreign policies of states.

"From considering the forces which cause ill-feeling between states it is natural to pass to those which create good feeling. A sense of common interest is often produced more or less of good will and of co-operation. The nations will profess friendship and will extol one another by appropriate compliments on public occasions so long as each expects the co-operation of the other to continue.

Advantages Disappear
"But a friendship based on reciprocal advantage comes to an end, when the advantages disappear, and in the constant changes of politics this frequently happens. Such alliances are unstable—the partner of today may be the sect or even open enemy of tomorrow."

"Administration of intellectual or moral excellence is scarcely to be expected from a nation towards a nation. Nobody ever heard of a nation whose virtue made other nations love it. Each people is much more apt to disparage the merits of others and this habit of mind passes uncorrected when practiced towards a foreign people because each people likes to find grounds for believing in its own superiority.

"In some, one may remark that there is a sense in which civilized peoples form one great community each part of which profits by the labors of the others and enjoys the contributions they make to the common stock. Science and learning ought to draw men of different nations together into one body pursuing the same ideals, loyalty to truth and gentleness of spirit."

Here Lord Bryce concluded his statement of the influences political and non-political, which make for amity among nations. Reverting to the causes which make for war, he said, as he closed his address:

"It was nervousness and tremulousness which led the greater European states to increase from year to year their naval and military armaments till in 1914 there were some who seemed to wish for war in the hope that the decision it was to bring would put an end to costly preparations for it. The price has been paid and the result desired has not been attained."

SPORT SPOILER

Racial Sentiment
"Racial sentiment a third influence that has within the last century acquired a consoling force scarcely known to earlier generations. It is part of what we call by the quite modern name of nationality."

"Unhappily the powers represented at Paris, forgetting the promise made to recognize the principles of nationality and self-determination, have by the recent treaties left some grievances unredressed and created other grievances that did not exist before, thus sowing the seeds of future trouble."

"You will ask was it possible to give effect everywhere to those principles; and those who know the difficulties will at once answer it was not possible."

Unwilling Subjects
"There are regions in Europe such as the Danubian countries, Poland, western Russia, many parts of the Balkan peninsula and many parts of western Asia, where populations belonging to different nationalities dwell

SEARCHING FOR MURDER GUN

County Authorities Hunt for Weapon With Which J. B. Kennedy Was Killed

Estranged Wife of Burch Believes Him Innocent of Connection With Murder

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8.—Search for the shotgun with which John Belton Kennedy was killed near the summer cottage in Beverly Glen Friday night, was pressed vigorously today by county authorities, as the most important link still missing in the chain of evidence which has been so far discovered in connection with the murder.

Arthur Courtney Burch and Mrs. Madelynn Obenchain, who was with Kennedy the night he was slain, have refused to answer any further questions. Burch is formally booked on "suspicion of murder." Mrs. Obenchain is detained as a witness.

County officials assert that the gun from which were fired the shells found near the Beverly Glen cottage will prove the most important clue in the case. Burch admitted, county officials declare, that the automobile parked near the Kennedy summer house the night of the shooting had been hired by him.

The mysterious man and woman who followed Mrs. John D. Kennedy, mother of the slain broker, through the streets to her husband's office last Friday afternoon, are also factors in the case in whom officials are concentrating their attention. Mrs. Obenchain has stated that immediately after the shots were fired which killed Kennedy, two persons fled past her in the darkness. The descriptions of the two given by Mrs. Kennedy do not fit any one so far mentioned in connection with the mystery, authorities said.

Believes Husband Innocent

LUDINGTON, Mich., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Allie Quayle Burch, daughter of Bishop William A. Quayle, and estranged wife of Arthur C. Burch, in a statement today said she believed her husband innocent of any connection with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy in Los Angeles, last Friday.

Burch is held in connection with the killing of Kennedy, who was shot in the presence of Mrs. Madelynn Obenchain, divorced wife of Ralph Obenchain of Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Obenchain is also held.

Mrs. Burch is at the summer cottage of her parents here. She said she felt sure that there had been no love affair between Burch and Mrs. Obenchain.

According to Mrs. Burch, she filed suit for divorce in Lawrence county, Kansas, against her husband, over a year ago, charging desertion, extreme cruelty and neglect. She expects the decree to be signed soon. Burch recently made overtures towards a reconciliation, she said.

Mrs. Burch said she did not

N. E. GOVERNORS VISIT CAMP DEVENS

CAMP DEVENS, Aug. 8.—The students of the first citizens' military training camp in New England will see a more varied program of war activities in the next three weeks at this camp than any of the troops who trained for overseas service here saw during all their months of training.

It became known yesterday that Gov. Sans Souet of Rhode Island, with General Charles W. Abbott, Major Charles W. Taylor and other members of his staff will visit camp today, where they will be guests of Gen. Hersey. The governor of Maine will be a guest at the camp in the near future, probably this week, and Gov. Harrington of Vermont will be here next Monday.

It was also stated that the governor of every state in New England will have inspected the C. M. T. C. before the training ends. They will see the youths in almost every kind of training imaginable. Besides these officials several senators and congressmen are expected here to watch the progress of the camp.

The boys begin their cavalry training today. Yesterday they took up the training, which is to be speeded up at once were sent home.

Numerous visitors came to camp yesterday afternoon to watch the boys taking their physical exercises under the direction of Col. Herman T. Koehler.

There has been a slight weeding out among the youngsters and yesterday a few who would not be able to stand the training, which is to be speeded up at once were sent home.

Col. Paul B. Malone, commander of the school of infantry at Camp Benning, Ga., who has been here supervising the arrangement of the infantry course, left camp last night to return to his post.

At the Liberty theatre last evening the entire body of students witnessed motion pictures on discipline and courtesy. These motion pictures which are furnished by the war department, are part of a series on military matters which are being used in the training of the citizen soldiery.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR LIQUOR OWNER

TOWNSHIP, N. J., Aug. 8.—The cache of 1221 bottles of whiskey found in the woods near Barnegat is believed by local authorities to be part of the cargo of the schooner Pocumoke, putative rum runner now detained at Atlantic City.

Andrew Glob, of Atlantic City yesterday was found $500 and sentenced to 90 days in jail for ownership of the liquor. According to the police, Glob also was involved in the Pocumoke case.

Max Urruh, owner of the farm where the liquor was found buried, said it had been brought there in big burlap bags as potatoes. Glob, he said, tried to hire his barn to store potatoes in, but was refused. County agents said they thought the Pocumoke had entered Barnegat harbor and discharged its cargo under cover of darkness and had then proceeded to Atlantic City with the tale that the cargo had been jettisoned in a storm.

Glob offered no defense in court. His attorney said he would apply to Supreme Court Justice Minton, attacking the constitutionality of the state prohibition law.

The reputation of the team is well known throughout this part of the state and under new management this season will go out after championship honors. The following players are requested to report tonight at 7 o'clock at Fisher's field: Wylie, Scoble, Solley, Torrey, M. Dyer, L. Dyer, Turner, Gartin, Barton, Ingle, Mooney, Householder, T. Conlin, L. Conlin, F. Quinn, McNancy and Cunningham.

know Mr. and Mrs. Obenchain or Kennedy, and had never heard Burch mention them. She was married to Burch in St. Paul in 1916, she said.

Bishop Quayle explained that the marriage of Burch and his daughter had consummated a romance of childhood and that the couple had met as children at Ludington, where their parents were wont to spend the summer.

CHURCH RIVAL OF ART MUSEUM

New York Structure Veritable Treasure Trove of Unique Sculpture and Carving

Cumulative Disclosures Made at St. Thomas Episcopal Church

One of the Carvings Entitled "Prohibition," Another "Divorcee"

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—St. Thomas Episcopal church in Fifth avenue loomed today as a possible rival of the Metropolitan Art Museum in public interest, following cumulative disclosures that showed the million dollar Gothic structure to be a veritable treasure trove of unique sculpture and wood carving.

The first "discovery" made by a newspaper last week, revealed a huge, ironic dollar mark carved in the ornamentation above the "bride's entrance." Then followed the discovery of a whole row of "avenue types." Little heads about the size of a fist—sculptured above the main entrance. These included a monocled dandy, a man with a dissolute nose and a woman heralded as "the divorcee."

Today the architects permitted to become public a chart listing some of the wood carvings that decorate the interior of the church. One of the carvings, entitled "Prohibition," depicts Bacchus tumbled from a keg by a woman with a spear. Falling from his outstretched hands is a bunch of grapes, while behind the woman's figure is a single lemon, emblematic of the "soft" drink.

Another carving shows the Russian bear receiving "soviet medicine" from two monkeys, supposed to represent Lenin and Trotsky. A third shows capital and labor in a death struggle. Labor is represented by a man in conventional working clothes. He grapples with a lean, bewiskered man in a high hat, who is backed up against the Woolworth building. The Woolworth tower is carved in a slant, as if about to fall.

Other figures, representative of progress, represent airplanes, automobiles, locomotives and telephones. Prominent in this group are two money bags bearing the initials "J. P. M."

The wood carvings also include a war group in which heads of Woodrow Wilson, King George of England, King Albert of Belgium, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, General Pershing, Marshal Foch, Admiral Beatty, Herbert Hoover, Major General Peyton C. March and many other war figures appear. A Salvation Army lassie is shown handing out doughnuts to doughboys and poltrots, and other figures include a "gob" and an "aviator."

L. Myers, partners of Bertram Goodhue, architect of the church, explained in making public the charts that the wood carvings, most of which have been done recently, had the full approval of the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stiles, rector of St. Thomas. The work was done, he said, in accordance with the tradition of architecture that modern figures in history, problems of the day and symbols of the age should receive recognition in a record edifice.

The dollar mark above the bride's door and the avenue above the main entrance, however, were the architect's little jests, worked in on his own initiative when the church was built, 10 years ago.

WORCESTER WEAVERS' STRIKE IS SETTLED

WORCESTER, Aug. 8.—The strike of 200 weavers at the Whitall Carpet Mills, which had been on since Jan. 17, was settled yesterday through an agent of the Massachusetts state board of arbitration and conciliation acting as a conciliator.

The basis of settlement will not be announced, officials said, until the men have heard it at a meeting tonight. The weavers struck against a 25 per cent cut in pay.

Take the City Back to the Farm and Have Farm People Commute From City

BY BERTON BRALEY

New York, Aug. 8.—There was crowds an' movement an' dirt an' noise. An' it never was twict the same. There was men an' women an' girls an' boys.

I seen from my window frame, There was babies sprawlin' underfoot Where the fightin' and fun run high. When I leaned from my window on Baxter street

An' watched as the world went by! The trouble with the economic theory of life is that it isn't so. People don't just naturally do things to their economic advantage—they're swayed much more by sentiment and folly and idealism and love and pleasure than they are by money.

And that's why you can't get the people of the swarming tenements to go to the farms. They'd have more money, better food, steadier employment—but they wouldn't like it. And they wouldn't like it because they'd be lonesome. And if you consider the life of the average slum dweller in any big city you'd understand that.

In a crowded block of tenements in New York, for instance, there will be from one thousand to ten thousand people. Without ever going out of that block—and hundreds of those people never do—a tenant in one of those rookeries is part of a continuous drama of throbbing life.

Life is intense, dramatic, colorful, vivid. It's ever changing and ever new. And in spite of the overcrowding, the underpaying, the dirt, disease and grime and dire poverty, the tone of it all is gay! Don't forget that—say!

Then why marvel that when a family from such a maelstrom of life is transported to the devastating loneliness of a farm or a tiny hamlet it is miserable, that it pines for starvation and company, that it fairly withers up without the tonic of human contact. What is a flayed stomach and a warmly clothed body and a clean bed if you're lonesome?

What are you going to do about it, then? Take the city to the land! With the development of the automobile and the truck there is no longer any need for dinky, drab country towns. Nor is there need for the isolation of farms.

Take a community of five thousand people right out of the tenements of New York; organize that community under the direction of able agricultural experts; plant it in the center of a great farming area; and you would make that land blossom as the rose while the people of the community enjoyed nearly all the human society and the color and excitement of throbbing life that characterize the city!

Every morning from that little city the motor trucks could take their laborers to the farm lands within a radius of 25 miles. Every evening those trucks could bring them back.

City people commute from the farms; why shouldn't farm people commute from the city?

Such a community could farm on a great co-operative scientific scale that would make our present methods look antiquated. It could own tractors, threshers, binders, gang plows, and machinery of every sort—run its own elevators, its own cattle yards, its own canneries.

With plenty of capital and proper handling, this sort of enterprise would succeed financially and humanly. It would be the greatest advance in economic procedure in a hundred years of agricultural history.

For it would recognize the fundamental fact that man is a company-loving creature, and instead of fixating for it, would convert that quality into comfort, happiness and wealth for those who now must choose between starving physically in the city or starving for companionship on the farm.

"For folks is folks and stumps is stumps, when all is said and done, And when it comes to company, the folks is better fun!"

ANTI-BEER BILL SENT TO CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Williams anti-beer bill passed by the senate late yesterday by a vote of 29 to 20, was sent today to conference with the house, where it was said an agreement was expected before the week-end. Pending announcement of the result of the conference, it was said at the treasury that the regulations for medical beer which have been prepared and are awaiting the signature of Secretary Mellon will not be issued.

Upon disposing of the anti-beer bill, the senate immediately gave right of way to the Capner-Tincher bill prohibiting gambling in grain. This is expected to be disposed of before the end of the week. With these two measures out of the way, there is a prospect of the senate declaring a recess of four weeks or more unless President Harding, upon his return today from his vacation trip in the White Mountains, should request that the railroad debt funding bill be pressed to a vote. The funding bill will be taken up today by the senate intracourse commerce committee.

The anti-beer bill, as passed by the senate, contained a number of amendments to the measure as received from the house. The most important was a provision to restrict operations of prohibition enforcement officers by prohibiting search of private property without search warrants, and imposing a penalty therefor.

CANADA TO DEPORT WERNER HORNE

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—Capt. Werner Horne, the German spy, who is at the moment confined in a special room at the immigration building, will leave here on Wednesday on the steamship Poland for Hamburg, being deported from Canada as an immediate after serving six of the 10 years of imprisonment to which he was sentenced after attempting to wreck the Vancouver bridge.

He was visited by a passport agent yesterday morning with a view to obtaining passport particulars. The agent stated that during half an hour's conversation Horne was continually talking of dukes and princes, the millions he has in bank, of his being a son of the ex-German emperor and of other prominent personages. In the end the agent was unable to get any sane information from him. He was positive the man is demented.

"Humanizing" the Postal Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—With a view to further "humanizing" the postal service, Postmaster General Hays today instructed postmasters to personally visit the family of anyone injured by mail trucks or other vehicles operated by the service, "and see what can be done in the circumstances to help in the situation." "This should be done in all cases regardless of whether or not an employee of the department has been primarily to blame," the order said.

HAIR SHOWS BAD EFFECT OF SCALP PERSPIRATION

Barbers See Beneficial Results on Both Scalp and Hair From Noonan's Hair Petrole

Warm weather, when one is inclined to perspire freely, has a bad effect on the hair, as the secretions become very active and the scalp becomes coarse. One of the most popular preparations to overcome the trouble is Noonan's Hair Petrole. Barbers report that this delightful hair dressing is not only nourishing but, because of the antiseptic action of petroleum, tends to leave the scalp clean and discourage dandruff. Barbers apply Noonan's Hair Petrole for 15 cents the treatment. For home use drug and department stores sell it in bottles for $1, or it can be obtained direct from the manufacturers, T. HAS MONEY IN THE BANK

Wife Charges Husband With Non-Support — Money Ownership Involved

With $2000 in the bank, the wife of Arthur Riel today came before Judge Enright in the police court to press a charge of non-support against her husband, who says he is penniless and finds difficulty in finding any but the most uncertain employment. The couple, so suddenly parted by domestic difficulties, have been married for thirty-one years. "Haven't you held the purse strings for the family?" asked the husband's counsel, referring to the latter's wages and those of the three children of the pair. Mrs. Riel conceded that she had collected the children's pay and part of her husband's. The attorney for the defense sought to show that the money now in the bank in the wife's name really is jointly owned, since the father of the family is entitled to the wages of his offspring.

He contended that a non-support charge could not be sustained while this money, partly belonging to the defendant, remained untouched. Judge Enright was inclined to think that the cash came under the catalogue of being saved by the wife and of being her property.

The arrest was made by Inspector John A. Walsh. After hearing the testimony of both parties, Judge Enright decided to take a continuance until Saturday. In the meantime looking up the law on the point. Counsel for Riel declared he would show his Honor law citations to demonstrate that his attitude was the legal one. The court requested him to do so prior to the next hearing on the matter.

Officer Says Goulet Threatened to Kill His Wife

Samuel Goulet, drunk, threatened to kill his sick wife, who lay helpless with a four-day-old baby, according to the testimony of Officer Jerome P. Cullen, heard this morning in the police court. He also sought to "beat her up," it was testified, and was restrained only by the neighbors. He has eight children, doesn't work, and gives no support to his household. It was claimed. The officer said he found him in the street, intoxicated. Judge Enright continued the case to Aug. 19, holding Goulet in bonds of $200 for an investigation of the matter.

STOLEN TRUCK RECOVERED
The two truck dangle from the side of the garage, Howard street, by three thieves about 10 o'clock yesterday evening, was recovered abandoned on Westford street, shortly afterwards by a police officer attached to the local department. An employee of the garage who was on watch was telephoning at the time the three culprits entered the structure. He was just in time to see them speeding up, but was unable to stop them. The police were immediately notified, however, and all officers on duty were warned to be on the lookout for the garolined machine.

R. R. Officials Reticent on Decision

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—Pennsylvania railroad officials had nothing to say regarding the amended decision of the Federal railroad labor board permitting secret voting in the new election ordered by it for the selections of committees to draw up new working agreements. Both the federation and the company held committee elections. The company recognized the committees elected under its plan and negotiated working agreements. The labor board declared both elections illegal. Pennsylvania officials, it is said, were disposed to ignore the ruling of the board and continue to deal with the committees with which it has agreements.

Light Voting up to Noon school inside of which was the voting place of Ward 9, precinct 3, was similar to that found to exist at other places where "ballots were (not) falling as snowflakes," "bottle of the room" went on. There upon the steps just inside the school yard several boys, apparently pupils of the school, were distributing cards carrying in large type the words "Vote no on contract labor if you work for a living."

Officers' Job

The warden stated emphatically that it was the duty of the police officer assigned to the job of keeping order around the polling place to see that the law was enforced. The interest of the officer in the matter appeared to be languid. While a representative of The Sun was at the voting place the policeman left a comfortable place against the wall, sauntered to the door, looked with not even simulated interest on the card-distributing acts of the small boys and then sauntered back to a place from which he viewed the efforts of two young women to cast an initial ballot.

Another trouble of the day was the failure of a number of the ballot boxes to work satisfactorily. It was asserted by a number of election officials that the boxes "bucked-up" in an amazing manner when efforts were made to slip ballots into them.

Only Two Cases

It was stated at the headquarters of the election commissioners that only two cases of trouble with the ballot boxes had been reported up to the noon hour. An investigation made by The Sun showed that there had been "trouble" in many more voting places than those named.

In the voting place of Ward 3, precinct 2, it was announced the official ballot box began cutting-up ridges early in the day. The box refused to count some ballots at all and in other cases counted single ballots several times, according to the election officials. The officials had a way of establishing an average that would be fair to both the "Yes" and "No" proponents. After "Yes" it was stated, Police Officer Shapiro, who had been assigned to preserve the public peace around the place, was called upon to open the box with a key that he had in his pocket. According to one of the election officials on duty the warden was temporarily absent when the box was opened.

Gives Opinion

When the action of the police officer was brought to the attention of the chairman of the election commissioners, it was discussed in consultation with the other members of the board, that the only persons who had authority to open the box was the warden or clerk. This statement was later somewhat qualified by a statement from a single member of the board. In this precinct up to noon a total of 259 votes out of a total registration of over 1100 votes had been cast. No attempt, it was stated by present officers, had been made up to that time to use automobiles or get out votes by other aids.

In ward 3, precinct 3, the election officials had the annual of a dull morning hours by the appearance for voting of a new citizeness who, it was commented, had taken literally the decision of a western judge, that the right of suffrage conferred upon women the right to wear "pants" if they chose as well as vote. This new voter, it was stated by the election officials, was clad in a very becoming suit which included well fitting knickerbockers.

City Employees There

Out of a total registration in this precinct of nearly 2500 about 300 persons had cast a ballot up to noon. The women up to that time had been outnumbered by male voters about two to one. Several city employees were spending the day in the vicinity of the polling place.

Went On Strike

At the polling place of ward 7, precinct 3 on Riverside street in Pawtucketville the regular ballot box went on strike this morning after a small vote had been cast. A box, without registering device, which is intended for use in primary elections, was promptly brought into use. The regular box showed a disposition to register three times for each ballot inserted.

Tufts Again on the Stand

tomorrow as expected, the case will probably last out the week. The cross-examination of the defense witnesses continued all day today instead of closing early this morning as expected. The Sun correspondent learns that the state has summoned several witnesses, some being recalled, which promises to be fairly long and decidedly hot. It is understood that the state will offer some brand new evidence not presented when they had their first hearings. The judges will allow a total of 5 hours for argument.

During the course of his examination Tufts withheld the names of certain of his clients associated with these accounts, stating that he would give them to the court in secret if the court desired it. Allen asked today: "Will you now give the names of these clients to the court and to me?" Tufts replied: "Not unless ordered by the court. I will not have you putting your detectives on the trail of my clients."

Trained By Allen's Detectives

Questioned by Allen: "Have any of my detectives been training your clients?" Answer: "Yes." The witness started to tell when and where but the court interrupted him to rule that he need not give any of the information concerning clients in the case.

Tufts' attitude toward the attorney general took a change this morning. He was sharp of speech, almost defiant, and at one time he accused the attorney general of misquoting his testimony. After Allen had finished with Tufts, Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry F. Hurbutt questioned him on the Barney case. This is the case of a convict who escaped from Charlestown prison under the most sensational circumstances. Hurbutt was retained by the attorney general a long time ago to investigate the Barney case and other automobile cases. It was noticeable that when Tufts' own attorneys were questioning him they made no direct examination on the Barney case.

Thorndike St. Place Closed found, but this did not stop the drive.

Mayor Thompson stated this morning that he read in The Sun last evening the report of the remarks made by Judge Enright. "I immediately tried to get in touch with my liquor enforcement men," said His Honor, "but discovered that they were already in action. They were on their way to the premises armed with a search warrant." The mayor continued by saying, "I understand that the establishment is closed and locked this morning, through the action of the owner of the building. If this had not been done, I stood ready to station a police officer in front of the premises, and keep him there. I was determined to spare no expense in this matter, and I will not spare it, if it proved to be necessary. We have a good city, and although some men will no doubt violate the laws everywhere, if I succeed in getting wind of the fact, I'm going to push matters to the fullest extent." Nothing will stand in the way, declared His Honor, of the most rigid prosecution of illegal liquor dispensers. "There will be no protection in this town," he said.

Although the owner of the building actually had the closing of the resort, it was learned today at the office of the clerk of the police court that the liquor squad men, Officers Clark and Winn, are to be credited with first getting under way the proceedings which resulted in a "shut down" this morning.

The entire drama of quick action and results was precipitated after Judge Enright had taken the bench at the police court yesterday morning. A young Camp Devens soldier boy, stalwart, intelligent in appearance, and neatly uniformed, was in the dock in consequence of being arrested for being present at a game on the Lord's day. His Honor recognized the young member of Uncle Sam's military forces as being identical with a soldier whom he had seen outside the Thorndike street saloon. "My attention was called to him," said the judge today, "by his erect bearing and general splendid appearance. I at first thought he was an officer, he carried himself so well, and his uniform was so faultless." Judge Enright saw a man come up behind the young soldier and take him from behind by the arm. Then this "spotter," as His Honor described him as evidently being, led his supposed victim within the building, and when Judge Enright sought to see what transpired after that, the door swung to, slamming in his face.

ANOTHER SAD STORY IN POLICE COURT

"It's not my fault; he promised he'd take care of me," sobbed pretty blue-eyed Arronco Collette in the police court this morning where she was charged, together with Arthur K.

Sharkey, with improper conduct. The girl, who seemed scarcely more than a child, surprised the spectators by admitting that she is married and the mother of two children. But something came to disturb the harmony of the little household, which was located at Biddeford, Me., and Sharkey found her trudging along a country road in New Hampshire, footsore and alone. He was driving, and offered to give her a ride to the nearest city.

Romance blossomed hastily, and the pair were taken into custody at a Merrimack street lodging house by Officers Moore and Winn. According to Officer Moore, the girl declared that Sharkey allured her with tales of riches. "He said he would take me to Boston and show me a time such as I never had way up there in the country," the girl declared, according to the officer. "He said he had plenty of money, and would care for me and be good to me." But, says Officer Moore, apparently those rosy dreams of luxury and happiness, which attracted by their glamor the little mother farther and farther away from her two babies waiting and crying for her at home, were but the bait to encourage her in her course. For the couple were penniless when arrested. They could not have got to Boston, where Sharkey had promised to shower her with such delights, according to her story.

Somewhere in Maine a husband, and two little children, awaiting news of the mother who disappeared, will be notified today by the Lowell police that she is found, although the sad circumstances too will have to be told, and the husband asked what action he wishes to take. Will he forgive all for the sake of the two babies who are without their mother? That is the question which awaits an answer. The girl herself appears desolately remorseful, disillusioned, crushed. She would hardly lift her head in the court room this morning, but sat with downcast face, sobbing into her handkerchief already wet with tears. Will the broken little home be restored? Can the husband be forgiven?

NO CLEW TO MURDER OF MRS. TOWLE

SKOWHEGAN, Me., Aug. 9.—Sheriff John A. Moore said yesterday, as he left this town in company with Deputy Sheriffs Howard Lownd and Horace Crocker for the scene of the murder in Athens, that so far not the slightest clew to the slayer of Mrs. Mary Lowell Towle had been discovered.

No outsider had been heard of in the vicinity, which is strange, as the small home of William Kent, where the woman worked, was situated on the road leading from Fred Burrill's mill to Corson's Corner, within 10 rods of four corners leading to Athens, Harmony, Hartland and Skowhegan.

It appeared today that Mrs. Towle used a .35-calibre rifle as a club in self-defense, for the sights were badly bent. Parts of a broken broom handle were also scattered about.

Mrs. Towle had been housekeeper at Mr. Kent's a little more than four months, going there from West Bailey's in Cannan. She was said to be a native of Plymouth, Me., but was first known here in Corville, where she married Nelson Towle, who soon divorced her. A son, Perley Blackman, located in Newport, Me., is said to have claimed the body.

Notified today by the Lowell police that she is found, although the sad circumstances too will have to be told, and the husband asked what action he wishes to take. Will he forgive all for the sake of the two babies who are without their mother? That is the question which awaits an answer. The girl herself appears desolately remorseful, disillusioned, crushed. She would hardly lift her head in the court room this morning, but sat with downcast face, sobbing into her handkerchief already wet with tears. Will the broken little home be restored? Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

SPORTS INSERT TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Long John Smith pitched the Highland Daylights to a 4 to 2 victory over the C. M. A. C. last evening on the South common. The lanky soldier from camp Deven never was in better form and he hung up a record for all around play that may well serve as a target for the lesser lights of the league to shoot at. In addition to his remarkable pitching, he made three hits in as many times at bat, one of them being a ripping three bagger, and he held his position in a way that has seldom been equalled in local baseball.

On the other hand Hobson for the C. M. A. C. pitched a very mediocre game. In seven innings he was hit for a total of 12 hits with Greenalade, Bridgford and Smith doing the greater part of the whacking. Each of these players got a hit. However, Hobson must be accorded the credit of having pulled himself out of some tight holes. Several times, with men on the bases he succeeded in holding the next batters down to ineffectuality, which accounts for the disproportion between the number of hits and the number of runs registered by the Daylights.

Last night's game, like many another twilight contest this year, did not conclude without an argument, and for a time it looked as though the thousands of people who had come with the fun expectation of seeing 18 games of sports play ball, might have to forego their pleasure and go home. In the second inning, with Freeman on first, Gallagher grounded to Allen. While Freeman was straining it down to second he and Allen collided. Instantly the C. M. A. C. management demanded that Freeman be declared out for interference. The Daylights, however, said that it was Allen who had interfered and the umpire agreed with them. For a time the C. M. A. C. refused to go on with the game, but they were finally convinced that the spectators should not be disappointed and play was resumed.

In the first inning one run was chalked up to the credit of the C. M. A. C. Pare grounded out to Freeman. Reynolds made a wonderful throw to the plate in the fifth catching Long John by the fraction of an inch. Smith was like a charging warhorse on the bases. He had three stolen bases to his credit. Smith knocked a three-bagger over the crowds in far centerfield. It was a terrific wallop. Tonight's crowd should surpass everything that has been seen on the common this year. Hobson was as wild as an eagle on some occasions and at other times he put across shots that were impossible to hit.

double and Sullivan struck out. Score, 4 to 1.

In the fourth the C. M. A. C. annexed another when Allen went to first on Sullivan's passed third strike and made home on Hobson's single to left. From that point on the game proceeded without further scoring. In the fifth inning looked promising for the C. M. A. C. when Reynolds and Marotte hit safely and got on, but they were still "on" when the third man was declared out.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Bolton and Canney's South Ends vs. Centralville tonight.

No baseball team or league can endure unless it pleases the crowd and a game which ends in a dispute certainly does nothing to put the crowd in good humor. C. M. A. C. showed good judgment and sportsmanship by continuing the game last evening.

Tonight's game will be the big contest of the year.

Reynolds made a wonderful throw to the plate in the fifth catching Long John by the fraction of an inch.

Smith was like a charging warhorse on the bases. He had three stolen bases to his credit.

Smith knocked a three-bagger over the crowds in far centerfield. It was a terrific wallop.

Tonight's crowd should surpass everything that has been seen on the common this year.

Hobson was as wild as an eagle on some occasions and at other times he put across shots that were impossible to hit.

Gibbons Tells How He Develops Knockout Hands

Here is another of the stories that Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light heavyweight, matched to meet Georges Carpentier and next logical contender for Jack Dempsey, is writing for The Sun.

BY TOMMY GIBBONS

Light Heavyweight Contender.

OSAKIS, Minn., Aug. 9.—Hands are the most important part of a fighter's makeup.

They should serve for another purpose than just to hang a pair of gloves on.

At the end of every blow is the hand inside the leather.

Yet few boxers take proper care of their hands.

They exercise their legs for footwork, their bodies for swiftness, their eyes for judging distance, their arms for swinging, their heads for ducking.

But they let their hands take care of themselves.

I found out the value of proper care of the hands a long time ago.

Just as Charley Paddock exercises his legs to break running records and Jim Barnes and Bill Butler, their wrists to win golf and tennis titles, I give my hands special workouts.

Handball

I play a lot of handball. It toughens the hands. My brother Mike and I built a cement-floored handball court here at our cottages on Osakis lake.

I play every day now. A storm recently blew some trees down across it. But I had the carpenters on the job in a jiffy to rebuild it.

If you are going to have knockout hands you must develop them just as you do your legs and arms.

A fellow, I don't remember his name now, advised me to take special hand exercises. That was six or seven years ago. I didn't think anything of it then for my hands had never bothered me.

A couple of years ago I hurt my thumb. I remembered what he had told me.

Grip Exercise

I got the habit of carrying a small rubber ball with me wherever I went. I keep massaging it until my hand gets tired.

On the street, riding on the trains, or wherever I am, I carry the ball with me and exercise my hands gripping it.

It would be surprising how strong your clutch becomes. It hardens the little muscles of the fingers. Your grip becomes like a vise. And all the time you are developing the muscles in your hands, forearms and even your shoulders.

Harder Bones

My hands have never bothered me since I began this little exercise trick. Some boxers have trouble with their hands continually. After they fight their hands are out of business.

It is a game which will probably decide the championship of the league. A prize for which the six teams of the league have struggled with might and main all season. If the Centralville win they will then and there be crowned champions. If the South Ends win they will have a chance to tie the Centralville by defeating the Highland Daylights Thursday night.

It is estimated that a crowd of over 10,000 will see the game this evening.

Hand Trouble

Of the heavyweights Bob Martin has hand trouble.

Carpentier broke his hand when he fought Dempsey.

Most every fighter has more or less trouble.

Some of it may be due to brittle bones. But brittle bones can be propped up by developing the finger-like muscles in the fingers and joints.

Knockout hands must be tough—hard—strong.

This little habit of gripping a rubber ball is on way to get them.

If I'm going to knock out Carpentier I'll need good hands. And when I fight Dempsey I'll need a pair of iron knuckles.

AMERICUS SEEKS MATCH

Well Known Wrestler Puts up $100 for Bout With Bob Johnson

Americus, the well known wrestler, who created a sensation here several seasons ago by his classy work on the mat, is back in town after a short stay in Brockton and Old Orchard and he dropped into The Sun office today to announce that he was particularly anxious to meet Bob Johnson in a match.

Americus made his desire strong by leaving a check for $100 with the writer, adding that if Johnson, meant business and was ready to back up the many challenges he hurled at Americus, which the latter was out of town all that was necessary for him to do was to cover the $100.

Americus declared that he would be willing to let the check ride, as a side bet, would be glad to increase its size, if Johnson, so desired. Americus looked to be in fine condition, and he said that he never felt better in his life. He now weighs about 172 pounds, but could get down to 160 if required to do so. While away he engaged in several successful matches.

If Johnson does not care to agree to a match Americus stands ready to meet any other man of his weight in this vicinity. Dick Shea is managing Americus.

BOOTT MILLS TEAM LIGHT EXTINGUISHERS

The Boott mills have ball team defeated the Electric Light nine Saturday afternoon on the First street oval by the score of 7 to 1. The Boott team has set up quite a record in the Textile league having been victorious in 14 games out of 16 played. The game was interesting from start to finish by reason of the fast action of both teams.

B. Lawson pitched for the Boott mills and Cashman twirled for the Electric Light team.

Lawson had nine strike outs to his credit while Dickinson, Fratus and Bradbury carried off the honors at the bat for the mill boys. Cashman for the Electric allowed but four hits while Finnegan at third played a wonderful game.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The manager of the North End baseball team would like to hear from Manager Bird of the Gillespies in regard to a game next Saturday on the North or South common. He would also consider any other date which Mr. Bird has open. Answer through this paper.

RED SOX SIGNS PITCHER

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The Red Sox have signed pitcher Henry Fine of Cambridge. It was announced today. He is a southpaw and has been drilling with the team. Although young and inexperienced, Manager Duffy considers him a likely prospect. Fine will remain here during the team's western trip which starts Thursday.

THANKLESS

Wild Bill Donovan got a thankless job when he took over the steering wheel of the Philles.

He isn't making good because he hasn't anything to make good with. Hamors of his outfit were to be expected.

Even John McGraw couldn't pep up a decrepit machine such as Donovan was asked to handle.

Sons' Boxing Drives Parents to Divorce

JAMES, JACK AND PAUL LESSARD WHOSE BROTHERLY UPPERCUTS AND PLAYFUL HOOKS HAVE DELIVERED A "HAY MAKER" TO DOMESTIC PEACE OF THEIR MOTHER, WHO BELIEVES IT A BRUTALIZING INFLUENCE, AND THE FATHER WHO WAS ONCE A BANTAM-WEIGHT FIGHTER AND REGARDS "BOXING AS FINE TRAINING FOR HIS SONS.

SAN MATEO, Cal., Aug. 9.—Two pairs of tiny boxing gloves threaten a knockout in the domestic ring of John R. Lessard and his wife, Jennie Lessard, with the divorce court judge as referee.

Rather than have her three husky sons "raised as prize fighters," Mrs. Lessard is seeking separation and custody of the juvenile batters.

To prevent the boys from being reared "as molly-coddles," the father, once a ringster, took the initiative for divorce and is willing to discard the mother.

Irreconcilably split over the character-development of their youngsters, both parents apparently had rather boys raised to be prize fighters, "reforms" Mrs. Lessard legally expressing her determination in the divorce action.

"I do not propose to have my three boys raised to be prize fighters," retorts Mrs. Lessard, legally expressing her determination in the divorce action.

The first round in the unique marital battle has been concluded with the filing of cross complaints, charging cruelty, and with Mrs. Lessard seeking to join her husband from further pugilistic training of her sons. James, Jack and Paul, 3, 5 and 5 years of age.

Lessard says he has devoted years to teaching the boys to box and that because of their cleverness with the gloves they are able to earn a lucrative salary on the stage. He claims an injury incapacitates him from earning a livelihood.

"I want to train my boys to be masters of self-defense, and I propose to instruct them along these lines," is his attitude.

g Interests Will Fight Ford's Proposition to Obtain Muscle Shoals

BY HARRY HUNT
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Lines are drawn for a concerted attack by air-power, munitions and fertilizer interests on the proposal by Henry to take over the government's 100,000 power and nitrate development at Muscle Shoals, Ala.
only; and that in order to secure down-payment of $5,000,000 and the amortization of $10,000,000 over a period of 100 years the government would have to expend $35,000,000 in addition to the $26,545,000 already spent on the development.

the real interests principally concerned in the fight will not appear in open. Their immediate effort will be to block the Ford proposal by continuing Congress.

At the cost of completing Wilson dam and Dam No. 3, estimated in the Ford offer as $28,000,000, Ford, instead, he not less than $52,000,000, which would have to be borne by the government.

On the face of this note

Cheap Power

On the other hand, it is urged, Ford would secure 550,000 horse-power energy at a cost of 12 per horse-power per year, whereas the average cost of steam-power is 10 to 12 per year, whereas the average cost of steam-power is from 10 to 12 per horse-power-year.

The immediate effort of the interests opposed to Ford's acquisition of the dam is to block the Ford onal heavy expenditure the government could realize a greater return by scrapping the plant than by coming in and turning it over to Ford for $5,000,000 and yearly rental payment of $250,000.

He said that the provision for regulation of profits on fertilizers produced is misleading and does not prevent the production of fertilizers at a profit.

that they provide for maintenance. NOT BEEN

Tufts Describes Surrender of Barney Compromise On Upper Silesia

Lloyd George and Briand Agree On Upper Silesia Boundary Line at Private Meeting in Paris

REINFORCEMENTS NOT TO BE SENT

Decision on Boundary Expected to be Ratified by Allied Supreme Council

Agreement Results in Council Deciding Not to Send Reinforcements to Silesia

British and Italian Delegates Vote Against France, Germany and Poland to Accept

PARIS, Aug. 9.—(By the Associated Press) Premiers Briand and Lloyd George have decided at a private meeting upon a compromise partition of Upper Silesia. It was declared here today on good authority.

The compromise boundary line is understood to have been drawn approximately as follows:

Beginning west of Pless on the Vistula river and running west of Gliwicz, west of Tost and Cross-Schwarz, north to between Rosenberg and Kreuzburg, and thence to the frontier of northern Upper Silesia.

This line, while by no means a straight one, approximately bisects the Silesian plebeian area.

The reported agreement must be formally ratified by the supreme council and the possibility of this action at the late afternoon session today was forecast. At this time the geographical experts of the French, British and Italian delegations, who were engaged in the early afternoon hours in considering the precise marking of the line, were expected to have ready the reports they had been instructed to make.

Not to Send Reinforcements

It was upon the private settlement being reached, it is understood, that the council decided not to send reinforcements to Upper Silesia at present, the British and Italian representatives voting against France.

The belief was expressed that both Germany and Poland would accept the council's decision.

Mr. Lloyd George informed the council of the line the British were now willing to accept and the experts were

PRES. GOMPERTS SPEAKS

Tells Typos Labor Has Halted the "Shock Troops of Its Enemies"

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Labor has halted the "shock troops of its enemies," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today declared in an address before the annual convention of the International Typographical union.

All over the world, about the time of signing the armistice, the labor chief said, capitalism made up its mind it must secure the master hand over the working people and in the United States there had been a "premeditated decision to crush the spirit of the working class."

"That fight transformed the men of labor and gave them a new concept of their position. They know their worth. They know that without them civilization would perish from the face of the earth."

"When the war was over the men of labor were no longer regarded by capital as patriots. They were to be forced back into their position of drudges."

Gompers declared that capital is trying to establish an industrial autocracy in the United States and Canada, adding:

"The labor movement is a protest against autocracy, whether it be political or industrial."

TUFTS AGAIN ON THE STAND

Unable to Explain Only Four Deposits of $1000 or More in Last Four Years

Questioned by Atty. Gen. Allen on Bank Deposits and Expenditures

New Developments Delay Trial—Tufts Says Allen's Detectives Trail His Clients

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex county today testified to the surrender of Herman L. Barney, who escaped from the Charlestown prison where he was serving time for the killing of a police officer.

The Barney story was told under questioning by Assistant Attorney General Hurlbut in the attorney general's proceedings to have Tufts removed for alleged misuse of his office. Tufts's counsel declined to question him on the matter, stating that they saw nothing derogatory to the district attorney in the state's presentation of the Barney case and did not think there was anything further to add to the story.

The district attorney said he first heard of Barney's escape about May 20, and that Inspector Halloran of the Newton police spoke to him about it, the latter part of June, 1920. Later, Tufts said, Halloran told him he thought he could get Barney.

On June 27 Halloran telephoned him from Greenfield and asked him to meet him there. Tufts said the next day he met Halloran and went to Northampton with him early the next morning. Halloran refused to tell him definitely where Barney was, Tufts said, saying he was pledged not to divulge it at that time.

Stephen Bresnahan acting as Barney's attorney was poked up in Northampton, Tufts said, adding that Halloran then told him he had been in conference with Bresnahan about Barney's surrender.

Bresnahan told him Barney's mother. Continued to Page Seven

AUTO FLEET IS AFTER VOTERS

Mobilized and Sent Scrambling to Bring Citizens to the Polls

Light Interest of Morning Develops Later Into a Spirited Contest

Ballot Boxes Fail to Work Properly in Several Important Precincts

The chamber of commerce started this afternoon to comb the city systematically for votes in favor of the initiative proposition for turning the construction of streets and sidewalks in Lowell over into the hands of contractors.

The chamber officials mobilized a large fleet of autos to get to the polls every possible voter believed to be in favor of the chamber's proposition. The news received early in the day that General Apathy ruled at the polls and that the vote in most precincts was far below that normally cast at a city election sent the members scurrying over the city in a lively effort to make as good a showing as possible for the chamber's activity.

It was reported that the work of the chamber was meeting with a hearty and satisfactory response, and it was predicted in the chamber's rooms that full confidence was felt that a winning "Yes" vote would be cast.

Complete arrangements have been made for tabulating the vote in the office of the election commissioners in city hall. It was stated that it was believed the full results would be known not later than 7:30 p. m. Precinct officers were requested to telephone results as soon as known to the commissioners' number 1400.

General Apathy started in as commander in chief of today's election in nearly all of the precincts the vote up to noon had been far below that usually cast at city elections.

The election was not without its interesting features despite an apparent indifference on the part of the voters to enthusiasm over the issue involved.

In several of the precincts the law which forbids the distribution of election matter within 150 feet, or less, of a public polling place was apparently being more honored in the breach than the observance. That a law to the effect—

BALL PLAYER DIES OF FRACTURED SKULL

YARMOUTH, Me., Aug. 9.—Lester Frye, first baseman on the Freeport team, died with a fractured skull at his home here early today. He was hit on the ear by an in-shoot by Lewis Woodcock in the fourth inning of a game with the town team at Lisbon Falls, Saturday.

Woodcock was getting hit hard and the Lisbon Falls fans were shouting "Curve it around his neck," according to the Freeport players, when he pitched the fatal ball. Frye put up his arms as if to protect himself, and stepped a full step backwards, then fell to the ground. Besides the fractured skull, the ear was smashed. He was able to walk afterward, but became unconscious while being brought to his home after the game.

BOY DROWNED IN THE CONCORD RIVER

Albert Butterfield, aged about six years, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Butterfield of Elm street, North Billerica, was drowned in the Concord river this forenoon, while playing on a log with a companion. The little fellow was taken out of the water shortly after the accident, but the efforts of City Physician M. A. Tighe of this city with the pulmotor failed to bring him back to life, and the body was later removed to the home of the parents.

As far as could be learned, the Butterfield boy with a companion, Thomas Taylor, was playing on a log in the river in the rear of Talbot mills shortly after 11 o'clock. The Butterfield boy lost his footing and fell into the water. Taylor shouted for help and several boys who heard the outcries rushed to the scene of the accident and, divesting themselves of their clothes, plunged into the water. After considerable effort they succeeded in bringing the little fellow to shore and a hurried call was sent to this city for the pulmotor.

Sun's Story of Police Court Developments Stirs Authorities to Action

Mayor Says He Will "Push Matters to the Fullest Extent"

Stirred to action by comments from the bench by Judge Thomas J. Enright yesterday morning, relative to an alleged liquor nuisance on Thorndike street into which His Honor said he saw a clean-cut soldier apparently lured by a "spotter," Mayor Perry D. Thompson, and the liquor and vice squads of the local police department last night took vigorous action against the resort, and the owner of the property on which it is located, locked the door this morning. Today the place is shut up "tighter than a drum." Developments came thick and fast in the case, immediately the first edition of The Sun was on the street. A search warrant was sworn out by Officer Winn of the liquor squad and Officer Moore of the vice squad, and about nine o'clock, last evening the place, a "near-beer" saloon, was raided. No liquor was found, but this did not stop the drive.

Mayor Thompson stated this morning. Continued to Page Ten

THE PACKING INDUSTRY

Post-War Adjustment About Completed, Says Pres.

Thos. E. Wilson

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The packing industry has about completed its post-war readjustment and the position of both producer and packer should improve rapidly, Thomas E. Wilson, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers told hundreds of packers from all sections of the country in opening a three-day annual convention today.

Mr. Wilson presented a survey of 150 non-packer industries which he compared with a survey of packing companies to show that the non-packers did less than four times as much business as the packers and made more than 100 times as much profit. The packing companies surveyed earned profits of $1218,065 on an investment of approximately $590,000,000 and sales of $2,013,002,000, he said.

He also presented a table to show price declines in wholesale meat products during the past year ranging from 16 per cent. to 47 per cent. Nearly all by-products are lower than in 1913, he asserted.

"The decline of packing house products," Mr. Wilson asserted, "should be conclusive proof of the statements made by the packers that the business is governed by the law of supply and demand, and is not and cannot be artificially controlled."

The producer and packer both have suffered losses through the decline in values, he said, and he also called attention to the decrease in export of meat products, stating that there was a loss of 1,270,000,000 pounds in 1920 as compared with 1919, representing a loss in values of $525,013,156. Furthermore, the per capita consumption of meat and lard in the United States in 1920 was 154.3 pounds as compared with 184.3 pounds in 1918, representing a potential loss of 1,350,000,000 pounds.

Mr. Wilson presented figures to show the production of live stock is not keeping pace with the growth of population and that there has been a shrinkage in the quantity of meat products held in storage.

Conditions generally should improve when congress has settled the tariff, taxation and other important problems, he speaker said, and he asserted that an agreement on limited armament among the nations, if successful, would turn millions of wealth to pursuits of peace and industry.

HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $350

BOSTON, Aug. 8.—Henry P. Morrison of Kinnaird street, Cambridgeport, reported at station 2, Cambridge, last evening, that he had been held up by three colored men and robbed of $350 which he had withdrawn at 1 o'clock from the Cambridgeport Savings bank.

He stated that he passed down Magazine and Auburn streets, a roundabout way, to visit his brother, who works at the Brigham company, Albany street and Massachusetts avenue. As he reached Auburn and Sydney streets, he was held up and robbed.

THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

Lowell, Mass.—"I had anemia from the time I was sixteen years old and was very irregular."

If I did any house-cleaning or washing I would faint and have to be put to bed, my husband thinking every minute was my last. After reading your text-book for women I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and have never felt better than I have the last two years. I can work, eat, sleep, and feel as strong as can be. Doctors told me I could never have children—I was too weak—but after taking Vegetable Compound it strengthened me so I gave birth to an eight-pound boy. I was well all the time, did my work up to the last day, and had a natural birth. Everybody who knew me was surprised, and when they ask me what made me strong I tell them with great pleasure, 'I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never felt better in my life.' Use this testimonial at any time."—Mrs. ELIZABETH SMART, 142 W. Sixth St., Lowell, Mass.

This experience of Mrs. Smart is surely a strong recommendation for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is only one of a great many similar cases.

Fight Between Wolf and Man Is the Thriller in "Shame"

JOHN GILBERT AND DORIS PAWN IN "SHAME"

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—A good fight always helps things along. It puts pep into the celluloid. And the movie fans evidently like it.

Which probably explains several rather stirring battles thrown in with "Shame," another Fox thriller just released.

Having exhausted the Orient, the scenario writer packs off his characters, bag and baggage, to Alaska.

Up there, where the hero is giving the icy refrigeration treatment to the inner pangs of a secret sorrow, everything is cleared up to the satisfaction of the scenario writer, the audience and all others concerned.

Just to make the wind-up a little harder, a spectacular wolf fight is thrown in for good measure. The wolf invades the hero's cabin and right before the glowering eye of his wife he chooses the fatal path into unconsciousness.

Things move rapidly in "Shame." Even John Gilbert. First he plays the father. Then the son.

The father is killed in Shanghai following a love affair with a mandarin's daughter. The son reaches mainland under the belief that he is a half-caste, because the Chinese villain who killed his father branded him when he was a baby.

Gilbert has a strong emotional role. The fat Chinese villain, well played by George Siegmann, threatens to reveal that he is a half-breed unless he joins an opium-smuggling enterprise.

For months he struggles with his fear and despair, and finally breaks down and confesses to his wife. He snatches his infant son from his crib and flees to Alaska to bury his shame before social ostracism comes. His wife follows and says she doesn't care. Of course, she is just as happy as he is when they learn he's as white as the Alaskan snow.

Speaking of snow, there are some stirring snowstorm scenes in Alaska and color photography is used for the "Frost of the Lanterns" scene in Shanghai and for the New Year's celebration in San Francisco's Chinatown.

A REAL REEL FIGHT

Fights in the movies are not always make-believe. An extra man threatened to sue Thomas Meighan, Paramount star, because he claims his jaw was fractured by a blow Meighan hit him during the making of a fight scene in "Cappy Ricks." It was a saloon brawl, and the extra man says Meighan put too much steam behind the wallop.

BOY TRAIN WRECKER HELD FOR MURDER

JOHN ARRIS, SIGNING HIS CONFESSION TO WRECKING THE LACKAWANNA LIMITED, AND THE WRECK HE CAUSED.

HIS GREAT AMBITION WAS TO WRECK A TRAIN

Copyright, 1921, by The Lowell Sun. SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 9.—John Arris is the son of a village huckster, a 14-year-old lad with a passion for smashing things.

His great ambition was to wreck a train. Day after day, according to the signed confession he has made to police, he placed metal objects of one sort and another on the tracks.

Finally he achieved his aim—and ditched the Lackawanna Limited at Glenburn, causing a loss of two lives and injuries to 30 persons.

Seeing that disaster from the top of an apple tree merely whetted his ambition—and two days later he was caught in the act of trying to repeat the performance.

Now he is in the house of detention of juvenile court, waiting trial for murder. When reminded that his act cost the lives of two engineers, Chas. D. Coolbaugh and Jacob Gleitschmann, the boy merely says:

"That's too bad."

What disposition to make of his case is puzzling authorities.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
Well Informed

Old Adam knew Eve in a sort of way
As well as a man could know
Who's lived with a woman night and day
For a century or so;
Yet over he shook his head in doubt
And muttered, "I don't believe
As long as I live that I'll make out
The ways of that woman, Eve."

But that was ages and ages back,
And ever since, men have tried,
To probe the feminine brain,
Keep track
Of what went on inside;
With mountains of paper, oceans
Of ink.

They've set down what they knew Concerning women and what they think,
And the various things they do.
And with that knowledge before our eyes,
And filtering into our mind,
We modern people, of course,
are wise
Concerning our womankind:
In fact, I honestly do believe,
As one good man to another,
That we knew as much of the Daughters of Eve
As Adam did of their mother!

COLLECT $9,393,020.77
IN STATE TAXES

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—In an accounting made by Henry F. Long, commissioner of corporations and taxation, covering the period between Dec. 1, 1920, to July 31, 1921, it is shown that a total of $9,393,020.77 has already been collected in taxes this year with the bills for corporation and income taxes, still to be sent out. It was estimated by Thomas W. White, supervisor that the total tax income would be $15,000,000 which would leave approximately $5,600,000 to be collected. Commissioner Long thinks that the corporation taxes this year will not exceed $9,000,000, because of the industrial depression. Five-sixths of this tax is distributed to the towns and cities by Nov. 15 to save them borrowing money against the taxes at high rates of interest. So far the income from inheritance taxes has been $4,600,000, with $2,000,000 more expected before the end of the year. The revenue from this tax was estimated at $4,500,000. Taxation of deposits in savings banks will amount to about $2,200,000, of which about half has been paid into the treasury. Bills for income taxes will soon be sent out. The income from this tax is placed by Commissioner Long at $13,500,000. No part of this tax is kept by the state treasury, except the cost of collecting it, which this year is calculated at $443,000. It is thought possible that the taxation of shares held by nonresidents of Massachusetts National banks may be unconstitutional, as a similar law in one of the southern states was so held to be by the United States supreme court. Mr. Long declared himself impressed by the fairness of the public and their desire to pay their share of all taxes. As illustration, he said that the public had paid more than $1,000,000 in income taxes before April 1, thereby saving the state about $57,000 in interest charges.

DROP SODA AND ICE CREAM TAXES

Would Also Repeal Taxes on Wearing Apparel and Cut Sporting Goods Tax

Agreement Reached by Republican Members of House Committee

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Having agreed to the elimination of the soda fountain, ice cream and so-called luxury taxes on wearing apparel and to a 50 per cent cut in the levy on sporting goods, republican members of the ways and means committee returned today to the job of revenue revision determined to make further reductions in the total tax the American people will be called upon to pay this fiscal year.

Cut Transportation Levies
A 50 per cent cut in the transportation levies, both passenger and freight, was declared to be practically a certainty. Those members who heretofore have urged immediate repeal of all of these taxes were understood to be prepared to press their point with the argument that this could be done readily if repeal of the excess profits and higher surtaxes is delayed until next January 1 as is now proposed.

The total loss of revenue involved in cutting off the transportation taxes was estimated at $250,000,000, or less, it was claimed than the loss that would be entailed this year through making the repeal of the excess profits and higher income surtaxes retroactive to last January 1. It also was urged that the cutting off of the levies on freight and passenger traffic would prove of real help to business through savings in freight charges and in expenses of traveling salesmen.

Formal agreement among the majority members as to the total that will be absolutely necessary to run this government this fiscal year, has not yet been reached and it was said that further specific cuts might await such an agreement. There also was talk of conferences with President Harding to obtain his advice in the solution of the major problems before the committee.

Democratic Study Question
Having been excluded from participation in the framing of the bill, democratic members of the committee are giving independent study to the revision question. Representative Kitchen, the democratic leader, is detained at his home in North Carolina by illness.

Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the committee in the absence of Mr. Kitchen, came out flatly today for full repeal of the transportation taxes and the so-called nuisance taxes, including the 10 per cent tax on bottled soft drinks, and against new or increased taxes suggested by Secretary Mellon.

The Tax member also is of the opinion that a much greater return can be had from back taxes than the treasury has estimated. He thinks that instead of the $235,000,000 given in Mr. Mellon's statement to the committee nearly $500,000,000 can be obtained from this source this fiscal year.

Reductions Agreed Upon
The wearing apparel levies proposed for repeal are 10 per cent. of the amount by which the cost of women's and misses' hats, bonnets and hoods exceed $15 each; women's and misses' silk stockings or hose exceed $2 per pair; men's, women's, misses' and boys' shoes, pumps and slippers, exceed $10 per pair; men's and boys' silk stockings or hose exceed $2 per pair; men's shirts exceed $3 each; men's and boys' caps exceed $2 each; men's and boys' neckties and neckwear exceed $2 each; men's, women's, misses' and boys' pajamas, nightgowns, and underwear exceed $5 each; kimonos, petticoats and waists exceed $15 each; men's waistcoats, sold separately from suits, exceed $5 each, and house or smoking coats or jackets and bathrobes or lounging robes exceed $15 each.

The sporting goods on which it is proposed to cut the tax in half include:

Tennis rackets, nets, racket covers and presses, skates, snow shoes, skis, toboggans, canoe paddles and cushions, polo mallets, baseball bats, gloves, masks, protectors, shoes and uniforms, football helmets and harness and goals, basketball goals and uniforms, golf bags and clubs, lacrosse sticks, balls of all kinds, including baseballs, footballs, tennis, golf, lacrosse, billiard and pool balls, fishing rods and reels, billiard and pool tables, chess and checkers or boards and pieces, dice, games and parts of games (except playing cards and children's tops and games), and all similar articles.

To Cut Expenses $570,000,000
Repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on carbonated bottled beverages, which is collected and paid by the manufacturer monthly, also was discussed at the meeting, and favorable action was predicted by some members of the committee.

It is understood there was a suggestion that the committee go over the whole situation very frankly with President Harding and Secretary Mellon, urging that the executive departments hold down rigidly on expenditures. So far as was disclosed no action was taken.

Estimates before the committee yesterday were said to have contemplated total cuts of approximately $100,000,000 in probable expenditures for this fiscal year, leaving the total at $9,905,000,000, exclusive of postal, estimated at $575,000,000.

Reductions proposed included $75,000,000 for the army, $37,000,000 for the navy, $100,000,000 for the shipping board, $245,000,000 for the railroads and $100,000,000 proposed by the treasury to be employed in redeeming war savings securities.

A few committeemen expressed the view yesterday that the completed bill would be ready for the house by the end of this week.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING
A special meeting of the municipal council has been called for the approval of monthly bills, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. It was believed that additional bills to be charged to the construction of Central bridge would come up for approval, but the city auditor has not received any statement from the company at yet.

Take the City Back to the Farm and Have Farm People Commute From City

BY BERTON BRALEY

New York, Aug. 8. "There was crowds an' movement an' dirt an' noise. An' it never was twice the same. There was men an' women an' girls an' boys. I seen from my window frame. There was babies sprawlin' underfoot. Where the fights an' fun run high. When I leaned from my window on Baxter street. An' watched as the world went by!" The trouble with the economic theory of life is that it isn't so. People don't just naturally do things to their economic advantage—they're swayed much more by sentiment and folly and idealism and love and pleasure than they are by money. And that's why you can't get the people of the swarming tenements to go to the farms. They'd have more money, better food, steadier employment—but they wouldn't like it. And they wouldn't like it because they'd be lonesome. And if you consider the life of the average slum dweller in any big city you'd understand that. In a crowded block of tenements in New York, for instance, there will be from one thousand to ten thousand people. Without ever going out of that block—and hundreds of those people never do—a tenant in one of those rookeries is part of a continuous drama of throbbing life. Life is intense, dramatic, colorful, vivid. It's ever changing and ever new. And in spite of the overcrowding, the underlying, the dirt, disease and grime and dire poverty, the tone of it all is gay! Don't forget that—gay!

Then why marvel that when a family from such a maelstrom of life is transported to the devastating loneliness of a farm or a tiny hamlet it is miserable. That it pines for starvation and company, that it fairly withers up without the tonic of human contact. What is a filled stomach and a warmly clothed body and a clean bed if you're lonely? What are you going to do about it, then? Take the city to the land! With the development of the automobile and the truck there is no longer any need for stinky, drab country farms. Nor is there need for the isolation of farms.

Take a community of five thousand people right out of the tenements of New York; organize that community under the direction of able agricultural experts; plant it in the center of a great farming area; and you would make that land to blossom as the rose while the people of the community enjoyed nearly all the human society and the color and excitement of throbbing life that characterize the city!

Every morning from that little city the motor trucks could take their laborers to the farm lands within a radius of 25 miles. Every evening those trucks could bring them back. City people commute from the farms; why shouldn't farm people commute from the city?

Such a community could farm on a great co-operative scientific scale that would make our present methods look antiquated. It could own tractors, threshers, binders, gang plows, and machinery of every sort—run its own elevators, its own cattle yards, its own canneries.

With plenty of capital and proper handling, this sort of enterprise would succeed financially and humanly. It would be the greatest advance in economic procedure in a hundred years of agricultural history.

For it would recognize the fundamental fact that man is a company-loving creature, and instead of taxing for it, would convert that quality into comfort, happiness and wealth for those who now must choose between starving physically in the city or starving for companionship on the farm.

"For folks is folks and stumps is stumps, when all is said and done. And when it comes to company, the folks is better fun."

ANTI-BEER BILL SENT TO CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The Willis-Campbell anti-beer bill passed by the senate late yesterday by a vote of 23 to 20, was sent today to conference with the house, where it was said an agreement was expected before the week-end. Pending announcement of the result of the conference, it was said at the treasury that the regulations for medical beer which have been prepared and are awaiting the signature of Secretary Mellon will not be issued.

Upon disposing of the anti-beer bill, the senate immediately gave right of way to the Capper-Tincher bill prohibiting gambling in grain. This is expected to be disposed of before the end of the week. With these two measures out of the way, there is a prospect of the senate declaring a recess of four weeks or more unless President Harding, upon his return today from his vacation trip in the White Mountains, should request that the railroad debt funding bill be pressed to a vote. The funding bill will be taken up today by the senate intercommerce committee.

The anti-beer bill, as passed by the senate, contained a number of amendments to the measure as received from the house. The most important was a provision to restrict operations of prohibition enforcement officers by prohibiting search of private property without search warrants, and imposing a penalty therefor.

CANADA TO DEPORT WERNER HORNE

MONTREAL, Aug. 8.—Capt. Werner Horne, the German spy, who is at the moment confined in a special room at the Immigration building, will leave here on Wednesday on the steamship Poland for Hamburg being deported from Canada as an imbecile after serving six of the 10 years of imprisonment to which he was sentenced after attempting to wreck the Vancouver bridge.

He was visited by a passport agent yesterday morning, with a view to obtaining passport particulars. The agent states that during half an hour's conversation Horne was continually talking of dukes and princes, the millions he has in bank, of his being a son of the ex-German emperor and of other prominent personages. In the end the agent was unable to get any sane information from him. He was positive the man is demented.

Horne asked if he might cable the governor general of Canada for permission to roam around Montreal on parole. One thing Horne did say was that he was being kindly treated by chief of the Immigration Department Byrne and his staff and that he had nothing to complain of. Mr. Byrne, who thinks that the man is insane, has been given instructions to allow no one to visit or interview the prisoner, who is kept under watch at all times.

New Steamship Record Claimed

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 8.—A new steamship record between New York city and Rio is claimed for the liner American Legion, which arrived here yesterday. Her actual running time was 12 days, 20 hours, the previous south bound record being held by the steamer Aeolus, which made the voyage in 13 days, 4 hours. The Aeolus, however, made a direct trip between the two ports, while the American Legion encountered trouble with her machinery shortly after leaving New York and stopped for two and one-half days at Bermuda for repairs.

Plans to Revolutionize Swordfishing

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 9.—Joseph Hammond of Brooklyn, N. Y., an engineer in a New York school, and a resident of summer Mattapoisett plans to revolutionize swordfishing by shocking the sea monsters to death by electricity. He knows it can be done because, off No Man's Land, he has killed a 75-pounder by sending an electric current along a steel harpoon. In the basement of his home at Brooklyn he has a small aquarium where he shocks small fish by means of electricity in experiments. At present he is at work on elimination of danger to the harpooner in his method for he says, it takes 2000 volts or more to kill a swordfish, and a mistake would send both harpooner and fish to Davy Jones' locker. His plans, he asserts, will combine humanity to the fish and less exertion to the fisherman.

"Humanizing" the Postal Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—With a view to further "humanizing" the postal service, Postmaster General Hays today instructed postmasters to personally visit the family of anyone injured by mail trucks or other vehicles operated by the service, "and see what can be done in the circumstances to help in the situation." "This should be done in all cases regardless of whether or not an employee of the department has been primarily to blame," the order said.

4300 "Dokeys" Attend Convention

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 9.—Forty-three hundred "dokeys" had arrived here today from all parts of the United States and Canada to attend the biennial convention of the Imperial Palace, Knights of Khorassan. The visitors were welcomed to Chattanooga at a mass meeting last night. The convention opened this evening.

HAIR SHOWS BAD EFFECT OF SCALP PERSPIRATION

Barbers See Beneficial Results on Both Scalp and Hair From Noonan's Hair Petrole

Warm weather, when one is inclined to perspire freely, has a bad effect on the hair, as the secretions become very active and the scalp becomes coarse. One of the most popular preparations to overcome the trouble is Noonan's Hair Petrole. Barbers report that this delightful hair dressing is not only nourishing but, because of the antiseptic action of petroleum, tends to leave the scalp clean and discourages dandruff. Barbers apply Noonan's Hair Petrole for 15 cents the treatment. For home use drug and department stores sell it in bottles for $1, or it can be obtained direct from the manufacturers, T. WAS NAVAL AIRPLANE

Craft Which Fired at Motor

Boat Party Identified—

Probe Ordered

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 9.—Naval authorities announced today that the airplane which flew over Narragansett bay yesterday firing a machine gun and injuring a member of a boat party, had been identified as a naval craft. Rear Admiral A. H. Robertson, commander of the destroyer fleet, immediately ordered a court of inquiry.

Bullets from the machine gun riddled the launch in which blueberry pickers were returning to Oakland beach, after a trip to Hope island, and it was with difficulty that they were able to reach shore before the craft sank. Grace Buxton, one of the party, was wounded in the leg.

According to Commander William Davidson, aide to Admiral Robertson, the plane was a naval men aboard, had gone up the bay because of the rough weather outside. The machine gun on the craft had not been working properly and on the flight the aviators attempted to adjust it. None of the men remembered having sighted a boat nearby. Davidson said, although one had noted on the log having sighted a boat supposedly out of range of the gun.

The planes have their base at Potter's Cove, off Jamestown, and the flyers knew nothing of the wounding of the young woman until intelligence of the event went to the base early today to investigate.

HEAT WAVE HITS NEAR EASTERN COUNTRIES

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 9.—Near eastern countries have been struck by the heat wave which has prevailed for several weeks over south Russia, this city being particularly affected. Immense forest fires are reported from Asia Minor, the flames spreading readily because of the dry condition of the country.

The prevalence of the heat wave has led to many stories of strange animals coming to the surface of the Black sea that inhabitants of villages near the mouth of the Bosphorus are alarmed by reports of an apparition of a woman, painted a brilliant red, which they believe is the "famous ship of basinopol," a fabled craft which legend says used to plough the waves of the Black sea in troublous times.

STUBS TOE AGAINST DIAMOND—GETS $20

WESTFIELD, Aug. 9.—Benny Coughlin stubbed his toe while walking to his home in Court street, yesterday morning, dropped a paper he was carrying and cursed out the city of Westfield for falling to take better care to eliminate uneven joints on the sidewalk.

Benny stooped to pick up the paper and under it was a diamond ring for which search had been conducted for the past 10 days.

Benny is among the great army of the unemployed here and he had been among the scores which had sought the diamond following the report of its loss. He returned the ring to its owner and was presented a $20 bill.

The ring was lost on Court street and was found in the very location its owner and numbers of others had sought to find it. The ring had become imbedded in the earth and when Benny's foot struck the uneven joint in the sidewalk out it popped.

Benny has the $20 but is still looking for a job.

Confer With Harding on Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Chairman Fordney and other republican members of the house ways and means committee will confer with President Harding late today on the general subject of tax revision. Discussion, it is understood will center particularly upon what present estimated extraordinary expenses can be provided for through other means than direct taxation. Secretary Mellon, Speaker Gillet, the chairman of the house and senate appropriation committees and probably some other republican leaders will participate in the White House conference scheduled for late today.

All Passengers on Disabled Ship Landed

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

Resolution Directed Against Individual Contract System

Adopted

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 9.—Among a large number of resolutions adopted unanimously in today's session of the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor was one directed against the individual contract system as adopted by concerns in this city and elsewhere. It was declared that this system menaces the entire labor union movement. Another resolution called for equal pay for equal work, and was designed to support the efforts of school teachers to obtain pay based on service and not regulated by sex.

A resolve by W. H. Nealey of Lynn, opposed convict labor where it competes with union labor, and asked support of a congressional bill forbidding interstate shipment of convict labor products. A resolve was adopted calling attention to alleged loans by banks in the federal reserve system to persons using the money for speculative purposes and proposing a federal law to curb such practices by limiting interest charges by persons who borrow from such banks with the purpose of loaning the money.

Te repeal of the electrical license law as detrimental was advocated. Delegates of the Theatrical Stage Workers' union warned the convention that the open shop fight was impending in the theater, the near east relief and the industrial rehabilitation act were endorsed.

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Prices started off today with a continuation of yesterday's late upward tendency. Gains, however, were slight in most instances and business small, traders holding off for further developments in general conditions before taking a definite stand in the market. American Car gained 1½. Famous Players and Acetylene gained 1 and Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific and People's Gas ½ point.

Mexican Petroleum was heavy, losing three quarters, while Colorado and Southern and Westinghouse Electric sagged one half point. Completion of yesterday's urgent covering in demand sterling and a more liberal supply of commercial bills, carried down to 3.65 compared with 3.75 yesterday's highest. Continental rates were also shaded.

There was a broad demand for railroad stocks at mid-day. Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Reading, Chicago North-western, Louisville & Nashville, Missouri Pacific preferred and Baltimore & Ohio preferred, moved up one to 1½. Elsewhere, apart from General Electric, Mexican Petroleum and the Mexican oil issues, higher prices ruled with the tire, sugar, American car, Great Northern Ore and People's Gas issues in best demand. Call money held at 6 per cent with the demand from the interior for agricultural needs increasing.

Speculation languished and prices ruled below the morning levels. The affairs of particular corporations had a restrictive effect on buying of the specialties. Pressed Steel Car, Well-Fargo Express, American Woolen, Woolworth and Western Union declined 1 to 1½ points.

Active selling of the industrials caused prices to sag rapidly in the closing hour. Mexican Petroleum, Union Pacific, Great Northern, Baldwin motive two and numerous other railroads and industrials a point or over. The closing was heavy.

Decision on Newberry Case
WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Republicans of the senate privileges and elections committee today voted Senator Truman H. Newberry, republican, Michigan, whose election in 1913 was contested by Henry Ford, democratic nominee, a clear title to his seat. Democratic committee members all voted in opposition and the long contested case now goes to the senate for final decision. The committee was eight to four.

SWAINS UP IN ARMS OVER SEARCHLIGHT
YELLOWSTONE PARK, Aug. 8.—Spooners in the national park here are up in arms over the big searchlights recently installed at Old Faithful Inn. The purpose of the spotter is to illuminate the geysers, old and every thing at night. It does! A fellow can't even propose to his latest one and only without being searched out by the curious beam. The light that lies in a woman's eyes is bad enough, but the light that never lies is the light, say the park swains.

CARRIED OFF BY EAGLES AND DROPPED INTO LAKE

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 9.—Carried through the air from a tree-top to a height of 100 feet and then dropped into Lake Erie by four eagles, was the unique and startling experience of Edward Henshaw.

Henshaw, who resides in the village of Beech Park, near London, armed with a rifle, went to the farm of James Wesley to kill groundhogs that were making hay with a field of oats.

His attention was attracted by several eagles, which have had their home in the vicinity for several years, circling around a piece of bush on the lake bank. Finally the birds of prey settled on a branch of a tree about 75 feet from the ground, and Henshaw, keeping under cover as much as possible, approached from the rear to within about 50 yards of the tree.

On the branch were five full grown eagles of tremendous size. Picking out the centre bird, he fired, and was somewhat puzzled to observe four eagles flutter their wings but remain on the limb, while the fifth came tumbling to the ground head first. An examination of the dead bird showed that the tips of its talons had been broken, but the body bore no bullet mark.

The shot from Henshaw's gun had split open the branch on which the eagles rested, and as the opening closed the eagles' talons were caught and firmly held, as in a vise. The dead bird, which was the one aimed at, had been stunned by the bullet, and, falling forward, its talons which were only held by the tips, snapped, and death was caused by breaking of its neck when it hit the ground.

Shouting for assistance to a man he saw passing along the road, Henshaw started to climb the tree. Thomas Gardner arrived. Creeping slowly up the tree, Henshaw was within three feet of the struggling eagles when the bird snapped and he and the birds were dropped into space. Instead of dropping to the ground, however, Gardner was astonished to see Henshaw, clinging to the limb and carried by the powerful wings of the eagles, ascend and pass over the tops of the trees in the direction of the lake, about a hundred yards distant.

Giving chase Gardner reached the lake in time to see Henshaw still holding to the broken branch, drop into the water, while the eagles flew, screaming, out over the water. Supported by the limb, Henshaw partially unconscious, floated on the water until Gardner reached and rescued him. Beyond being dazed by his exciting experience, Henshaw was as well as ever yesterday. The limb, which was being inspected by hundreds of curious people yesterday, shows that the eagles' talons were in flying, aided by the weight of Henshaw, released the trapped talons.

BOY KILLS MOTHER TO END HER PAIN

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 9.—Willie Duffendell, 17, held up by his brother Dolly, 22, for the murder of their 70-year-old mother, Mrs. Martha Duffendell, confessed to officials at Bogsville that he shot and killed her, it was announced by Coroner Vermer Kerkhove.

According to the story which Willie told to coroner Kerkhove, his mother was walking through the woods in search of some squirrels when the hammer of his gun struck against a tree and discharged a shot through his mother's back.

Mrs. Duffendell, wounded, fell down on her side. Then she turned over on her face, according to the story told by Willie.

"I didn't want her to suffer," Willie said, "so I up and shot her again. That didn't kill her, so I shot her again in the neck."

Willie hurried to his home and then took refuge in Bogsville.

According to Willie's confession, he had had an argument with his mother on the day before the shooting, because he had returned from Bogsville without a job. "She fussed at me," he said simply.

Mothers Used To Say

give me the good old fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs in preference to the new fangled patent medicines on the market. I remember that when I had a digestion, was constipated, had a headache or my stomach was out of order, my mother would give me an old and reliable remedy called SEVEN BARKS and it would straighten me out in no time, so I always keep a bottle in the home for emergencies.

Colds and Grippe frequently will leave you with weak kidneys and aching back. The kidneys get overworked fighting off a cold or a contagious disease. When the stomach is out of order, the kidneys and liver not working properly, a few doses of SEVEN BARKS will stimulate the liver and kidneys, regulate the flow of bile, excrete distressing acids and dangerous poisons, and quickly restore you back to good digestion.

ETHEL BARRYMORE VISITS LOWELL

One of the most notable figures of the American stage, and a son of one of the nation's most distinguished theatrical families, Miss Ethel Barrymore paid a visit to this city late yesterday afternoon, while en route for a vacationing period in the White Mountains. Her little son, together with her chauffeur, accompanied her, as the party were travelling by automobile. The great actress entered Page's restaurant shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon, and took dinner. Surprisingly, she was not recognized by anyone until she was about to leave the restaurant. The party continued their journey towards the mountains.

Miss Barrymore was quietly garbed, but with her usual effectiveness. The sister of John and Lionel Barrymore has bobbed her hair, and apparently is some years younger than she has ever been before. The absence of her prominent husband, Russell, who may or may not be resting upon the mountaintops as to whether the couple have had domestic difficulties. Miss Barrymore, in a recent interview secured by a Boston newspaper woman, declined to discuss the matter, neither denying nor affirming the report that a divorce is in prospect. The noted comedienne, a short while ago, completed one of the most successful tours in her career, playing in Boston and other cities in Harry's "The Twelve Pound Look," in which she scored former triumphs. Litteral ovals greeted her appearances, but in spite of her national reputation, she has never received her usual late to pay tribute to her genius.

Tufts Case

court, yesterday gave important testimony in corroboration of her husband's statement that he received cash gifts from his father, Joseph A. Tufts, in June, 1917, the period of the $100,000 settlement when Tufts made large bank deposits.

She told of two occasions in the spring of 1917 when her husband, coming from the sick room of his father, displayed envelopes in which were packets of bills which she said he had received from his father. She said she never knew of the money until she saw it in the hands of her husband.

In one instance, Mrs. Tufts stated, she counted five $100 bills, the first of that denomination which she had ever seen. In the other case she was informed that the sum was nearly double the first gift.

Shows No Agitation

The calling of the district attorney's wife was the occasion for some stirring and craning of necks among the spectators. They saw a bright-faced, sturdy young woman, dressed in a blue dress and blue hat, who took her seat without displaying the slightest trace of agitation. Her brief story was told in clear, agreeable tones and with a manner of indifference to the glare of the court room.

The move of the defense attorney's general sought to checkmate by introducing a transcript of the bank account of the elder Tufts during the last seven years of his life. Mr. Allen called attention to the records of deposits by Tufts father during that period.

The Elder Tufts' Deposits

With a dozen minor exceptions, these deposits were confined to monthly sums of $24.27, presumed to be instalments of the elder Tufts' railroad pension, and quarterly entries of $170 each, which the district attorney himself explained as dividends from the 55 shares of Telephone stock, of which the father gave him in 1911, he has already testified.

The aim of the attorney general was clearly to establish the income of the elder Tufts during his last years of life in an endeavor to show the absence of any securities, or other than the telephone stock, by which might be explained the father's possession of so much money in 1917.

In this and other ways the money question was several times before the court. Besides Mrs. Tufts' corroborative testimony the defense presented evidence of the elder Tufts' financial condition from Henry F. Rockwell, assessor of the city of Fitchburg, who stated that in 1914 and 1915, when he sent out blank forms for the listing of personal taxable property, Joseph Tufts told him that he had invested all his money in non-taxable securities.

Tufts' statement also read into the court record Daniel H. Conkley's canceled checks written during the month of June, 1917, thus accounting for all his withdrawals from the Bank Trust company, in which he had deposited the $35,000 Methuen settlement money.

Tufts on Stand Most All Day

The district attorney himself was on the stand a large part of the day, indulging in sharp retorts to the searching questions of Mr. Allen, who pressed for a complete examination of the witness' cash bank deposits in the last few years. Mr. Tufts explained a considerable portion of the sums as fees received from his law practice.

He was still on the witness stand when court adjourned. His counsel, Melvin M. Johnson, having previously announced that Mr. Tufts is open to the entire trial. This statement, coupled with the prediction that the defense will rest this morning, indicated that Tufts' own counsel will not question him at all with reference to the apprehension of Herman L. Barney, escaped state prisoner.

Mr. Johnson confirmed this supposition later, saying that the defense sees no reason to dispute the major portion of the evidence already introduced on the Barney episode by Tufts' accusers. Rebuttal by the state is expected to consume about a day.

Prior to this testimony had been given by Clerk of the Middlesex Superior Court Ralph N. Smith showing that only 351 cases have been not proved by Dist. Atty. Tufts since he took office in 1917. A considerable number of these, according to ex-Assist. Dist. Atty. George Stanley Harvey, were questionable cases, in many of which defective indictments were later taken care of by new bills.

During the forenoon Mr. Johnson asked that he be permitted to introduce evidence to show that the attorney general was actuated by political motives in bringing the action, and that conditions have improved in Middlesex county under Mr. Tufts.

The matter was held under advisement until the opening of the afternoon session, when Chief Justice Rugg announced that the motions were denied.

Boston Woman Now Well and Happy

Again—Praises Tanlac for Restoring Health

"Tanlac has helped me so much that I don't see how I managed to get along without it," said Mrs. G. F. Russo, 29 Clark st., Boston.

"For the past five years my whole system was dreadfully run down, and I was so weak and worn out I had to hire someone to do my housework. My kidneys were terribly disordered and my back hurt so bad at times that I would give up in despair and just sit down and cry. I became so nervous that at times I would tremble all over and never knew what it was to sleep well at night. Many nights I could scarcely close my eyes and then in the day time I was so drowsy and worn out I felt like I could sleep standing up. At last, one day, I got so upset that the sight of food nauseated me, and I reached the point where I could eat little more than enough to keep body and soul together."

"I had about given up all hope of ever getting well when one of my neighbors persuaded me to take Tanlac, and I was soon rapidly getting back my strength. Four bottles have put me in perfect health. My kidneys no longer bother me, I never have an ache or pain, am free from nervousness, and sleep like a child at night. I never feel a sign of stomach trouble, eat good and hearty, and retain all my weight. Why, Tanlac, has made me feel like an entirely different person, and I am so healthy and happy that I go about my work singing. I can never praise this great medicine enough for what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal supervision of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Millis, Mass.; A. D. Ellis, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass.; and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

STAND THEATRE

At the Strand, yesterday, Harry Carey opened in a western picture which made clear that he really means to give us something new and better than the old time drama. Of course all the best features of the old style shocker were retained. There were the mountain vistas, taken with exquisitely sensitive photography, and there was the wild riding of which one never tires because it is real art, as well as a boxing a skilful bout. But, surprising as it may seem, the great films of western films, of nearly all films, in fact, was to a great extent eliminated. That is to say, the picture was not obvious. It did not move mechanically to certain situations, certain crises. One felt that one was seeing a human actor of their own volition, rather than puppets moved by strings in the hands of a feeble-brained director.

Mr. Carey, or Carl Laemmle, or whoever is responsible for the commendable effort for departing from the time-worn ending of a long and searful endurance by hero and heroine who have surmounted many perils together and have been crowned with a happy ending. The simple peasant who awaits it in fatuous certitude will be rudely amazed. But the judgment will give praise to those who have dared to give us life rather than moviemus. The final scene of the picture is excellently conceived, splendidly executed. Amid a driving rain, weirdly illuminated by the lightning, the hero and heroine, the cowboy who has loved a vainly turns his back upon the little girl of whom he has dreamed during long, hopeful years, and departs for the arms of his new-chosen girl.

As has been said, the photography is inspired. But this will bear repetition. It is an outstanding part of the total impression conveyed. It is a helpful sign, indicative of what the elver screen may be headed for. The land of promise is in sight when we have art in the purely mechanical portion of a picture, and art as well in the handling of the theme. One thing more. The little girl who plays the heroine participates in none of the furious adventures which characterize the piece. She keeps out of the way of the shooting, as women should and usually do. She is no Legion of Death member, as Pearl White. Apparently the producer of this venture relied with fine discretion that there is only one Pearl White, just as there is only one Pola Negri. To play the seductive ape to Pearl is to be just an apt Universal has chosen the way of restraint, and with potent effect. A film of worth, this, "The Wallow," although it is no "Les Miserables."

Also Lake, in "Over the Wire," is also offered. The picture is long drawn out, in the manner of Cecil de Mille. Yet there is commendation to be given. The chap who enacts the male lead is a real actor. He distains what is known in the lingo of the studios as "acting." In other words, he achieves the effect of reality by the remarkable device of behaving exactly as one might be imagined to do in real life. This is a radical departure from custom, but it is a delightful one. Mrs. Lake also has some success with her role. For one thing, she is not handicapped by a tawdry beauty, as are too many of those who have been exalted to stardom. She looks like a real business life, unfortunately, furnishes the atmosphere of the picture. We have had enough of these stock-ticker productions, although this one in some respects improves the average.

International News Weekly is interesting as always. The screen look its highest leap towards civilization when this phase of its existence opened. Harding at Plymouth, the breaking of records through the world fish and other really important phases are revealed. There is an adequate comedy. The young lady who bears the brunt of the rioting looks like Florence Moore, and is pretty good all right.

Big Interests Will Fight Ford's Proposition to Obtain Muscle Shoals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Lines are being drawn for a concerted attack by water-power, munitions and fertilizer interests on the proposal by Henry Ford to take over the government's $35,000,000 power and nitrate development at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

The real interests principally concerned in the fight will not appear in the open. Their immediate effort will be to block the Ford proposal by convincing congress.

First, that the cost of completing the Wilson dam and Dam No. 3, estimated in the Ford offer as $25,000,000, would, instead, be not less than $53,000,000, which would have to be borne by the government.

Second, that in the face of this additional heavy expenditure the government could realize a greater return by scrapping the plant than by completing it and turning it over to Ford for $5,000,000 and yearly rental payments of $1,680,000.

Third, that the provision for regulation of profits on fertilizers produced by scrapping the plant is misleading and does not guarantee the production of fertilizers at all.

Fourth, that the proposed term of 100 years and the conditions of renewal would in fact constitute a grant in perpetuity, which is against public policy.

Opening Gun

To sustain these contentions a so-called "engineering statement" presenting an analysis of the Ford offer has been prepared for submission to Secretary of War Weeks and to members of the house and senate.

This report states that the "only benefit to the government is the offer to maintain Nitrate Plant No. 2 in shape to produce explosives in time of war," that the stipulations covering navigation of the Tennessee and Warrior rivers are not sufficient, in that they provide for maintenance only; and that in order to secure a down-payment of $5,000,000, and the amortization of $40,000,000 over a period of 100 years, the government would have to expend $33,000,000 in addition to the $36,840,000 already spent on the development.

Cheap Power

On the other hand, it is urged, Ford would secure $50,000 horse-power of energy at a cost of $2 per horse-power per year, whereas the average cost of steam-power is $10 to $12 per year, whereas the average cost of steam-power is from $10 to $12 per horse-power year.

The immediate effort of the interests opposed to Ford's acquisition of the Muscle Shoals property is to discredit his offer and to attempt to put him in the position of having attempted to put across a sharp deal on Uncle Sam.

While the smoke of this battle is in the eyes of the public and of congress, they will come across with a proposition of their own.

The public will do well to watch Muscle Shoals.

Next to the assets of the shipping board, the development there offers the biggest chance for salvage of any of our war-time expenditures.

Also, next to the shipping board's assets, it offers the biggest chance for loot.

HAS MONEY IN THE BANK

Wife Charges Husband With Non-Support — Money Ownership Involved

With $2000 in the bank, the wife of Arthur Riel today before Judge Enright in the police court to press a charge of non-support against her husband, who says he is penniless and finds difficulty in finding any but the most uncertain employment. The couple, so suddenly parted by domestic difficulties, have been married for thirty-one years. "Haven't you held the purse strings for the family?" asked the husband's counsel, referring to the latter's wages and those of the three children of the pair. Mrs. Riel conceded that she had collected the children's pay and part of her husband's. The attorney for the defense sought to show that the money now in the bank in the wife's name really is jointly owned, since the father of the family is entitled to the wages of his offspring.

He contended that a non-support charge could not be sustained while this money, partly belonging to the defendant, remained untouched. Judge Enright was inclined to think that the cash came under the catalogue of being saved by the wife and being her property.

Officer Says Goulet Threatened to Kill His Wife

Samuel Goulet, drunk, threatened to kill his sick wife, who lay helpless with a four-day-old baby, according to the testimony of Officer Jerome F. Cullen, heard this morning in the police court. He also sought to "beat her up." It was testified, and was restrained only by the neighbors. He has eight children, doesn't work, and gives no support to his household. It was claimed. The officer said he found him in the street, intoxicated. Judge Enright continued the case to Aug. 12, holding Goulet in bonds of $200 for an investigation of the matter.

STOLEN TRUCK RECOVERED

The Red truck daringly stolen from the Mills garage, Howard street, by three thieves about 10 o'clock yesterday evening, was recovered abandoned on Westford street, shortly afterwards by a police officer attached to the local department. An employee of the garage who was on watch was telephoning at the time the three culprits entered the structure. He was just in time to see them speeding up, but was unable to stop them. The police were immediately notified, however, and all officers on duty were warned to be on the lookout for the surliced machine.

ANOTHER SAD STORY IN POLICE COURT

"It's not my fault; he promised he'd take care of me," sobbed pretty blue-eyed Arroncio Collette in the police court this morning where she was charged, together with Arthur K. Sharkey, with improper conduct. The girl, who seemed scarcely more than a child, surprised the spectators by admitting that she is married and the mother of two children. But some-thing came to disturb the harmony of the little household, which was located at Biddeford, Me., and Sharkey found her trudging along a country road in New Hampshire, footsore and alone. He was driving, and offered to give her a ride to the nearest city.

Romance blossomed hastily, and the pair were taken into custody at a Merrimack street lodging house by Officers Moore and Winn. According to Officer Moore, the girl declared that Sharkey allured her with tales of riches. "He said he would take me to Boston and show me a time such as I never had way up there in the country," the girl declared, according to the officer. "He said he had plenty of money, and would care for me and be good to me." But, says Officer Moore, apparently those rosy dreams of luxury and happiness, which attracted by their glamor the little mother farther and farther away from her two babies waiting and crying for her at home, were but the bait to encourage her in her course. For the couple were penniless when arrested. They could not have gotten to Boston, where Sharkey had promised to shower her with such delights, according to her story.

Somewhere in Maine a husband, and two little children, awaiting news of the mother who disappeared, will be notified today by the Lowell police that she is found, although the sad circumstances too will have to be told. The husband, asked what sort he wishes to take. Will he forgive all for the sake of the two babies who are without their mother? That is the question which awaits an answer. The girl herself appears desolately remorseful, disillusioned, crushed. She would hardly lift her head in the court room this morning, but sat with downcast face, sobbing into her handkerchief already wet with tears. Will the broken little home be restored? Can the husband forgive?

ing that he read in The Sun last evening the report of the remarks made by Judge Enright. "I immediately tried to get in touch with my liquor enforcement men," said His Honor, "but discovered that they were already in action. They were on their way to the premises armed with a search warrant." The mayor continued by saying, "I understand that the establishment is closed and locked this morning, through the action of the owner of the building. If this had not been done, I stood ready to station a police officer in front of the premises, and keep him there. I was determined to spare no expense in this matter, and I will not spare it, if it proved to be yet necessary. We have a good city, and although some men will no doubt violate the laws everywhere, if I succeed in getting matters to the fullest extent, nothing will stand in the way, declared His Honor, of the most rigid prosecution of illegal liquor dispensers. "There will be no protection in this town," he said.

Although the owner of the building actually did the closing of the resort, it was learned today at the office of the clerk of the police court that the liquor squad men, Officers Clark and Winn, are to be credited with first getting under way the proceedings which resulted in a "shut down" this morning.

The entire drama of quick action and results was precipitated after Judge Enright had taken the bench in the police court yesterday morning. A young Camp Devens soldier boy, stalwart, intelligent in appearance, and neatly uniformed, was in the dock in consequence of being arrested for being present at a game on the Lord's day. His Honor recognized the young member of Uncle Sam's military forces as being identical with a soldier whom he had seen outside the Thorndike street saloon. "My attention was called to him," said the judge today, "by his erect bearing and general splendid appearance. I at first thought he was an officer, he carried himself so well, and his uniform was so faultless." Judge Enright saw a man come up behind the young soldier and take him from behind by the arm. Then this "spotter," as His Honor described him as evidently being, led his supposed victim within the building, and when Judge Enright sought to see what transpired after that, the door swung to, slamming in his face.

Curzon is one of the central figures in the world-famous controversy that followed his order barring Lord Northcliffe's papers from the British foreign office. R. R. Officials Reticent on Decision

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—Pennsylvania railroad officials had nothing to say regarding the amended decision of the Federal railroad labor board permitting secret voting in the new election ordered by it for the selections of committees to draw up new working agreements. Both the federation and the company held committee elections. The company recognized the committees elected under its plan and negotiated working agreements. The labor board declared both elections illegal. Pennsylvania officials, it is said, were disposed to ignore the ruling of the board and continue to deal with the committees with which it has agreements.

Medford Man and Somerville Woman Injured in Motorcycle Accident

Charles E. Phelan of 53 Wareham street, Medford, and Miss Ethel McCormack of 3 Cartridge avenue, Somerville, are in a dangerous condition at St. John's hospital as a result of a motorcycle accident, which occurred last evening in Rogers street. Phelan is suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations of the thigh, while Miss McCormack's injuries consist of concussion of the brain and abrasions of the right leg. The accident occurred shortly before 9.30 o'clock, while the motorcycle with Phelan at the wheel and the woman in the sidecar, was speeding towards Tencksbury. It is claimed that the cycle crashed into a wagon driven by Jesse Kemp and the two occupants of the cycle were thrown to the ground. Charles Mello, who happened along in his automobile, rushed the injured to the hospital.

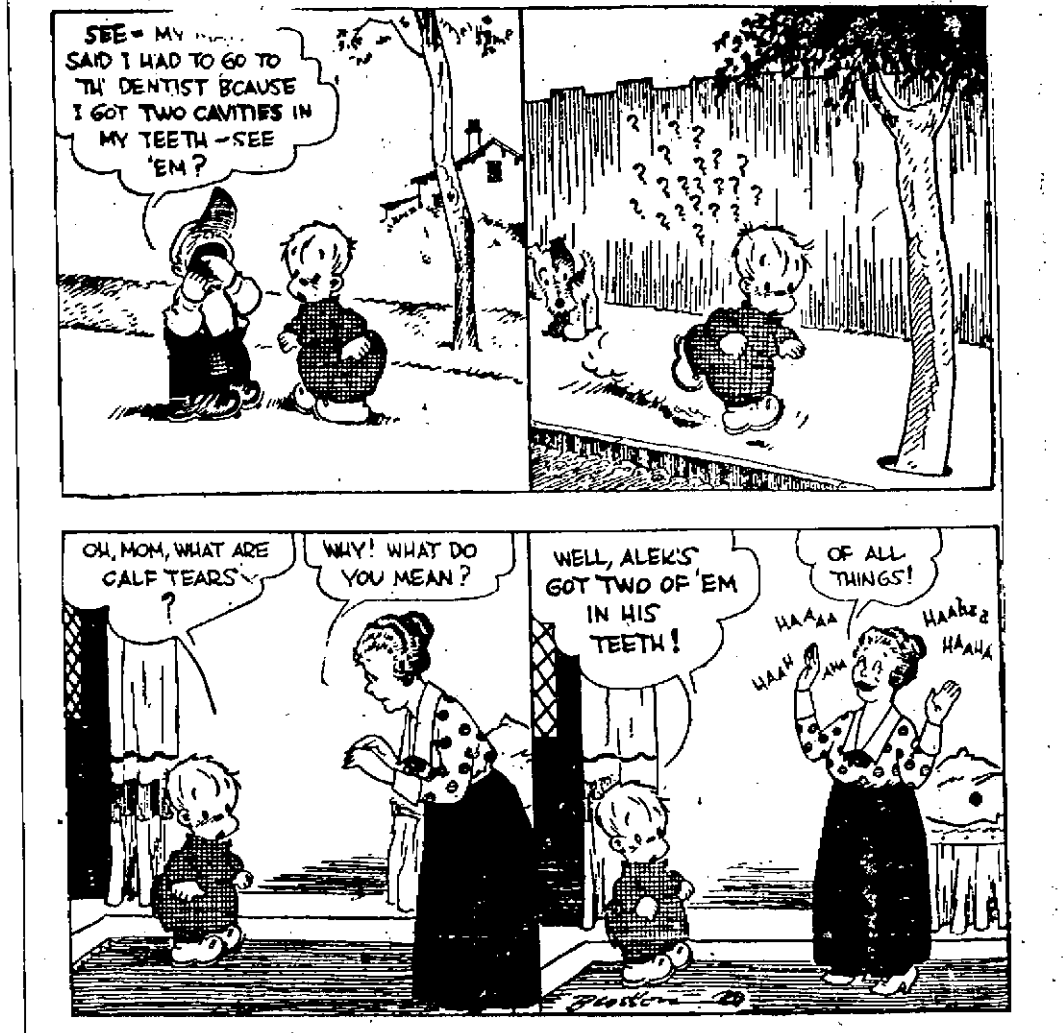

Election Board Refers Ballot Defacement Question to the City Solicitor

The election commission, in special meeting this morning, disclaimed any knowledge of the publication in a local Sunday newspaper of a specimen ballot for today's special election and referred to the city solicitor the legal part of the inquiry and charges of an alleged violation of the state election laws brought by George F. Wells, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The net result of the meeting, which was attended by the full board, is contained in the following letter, addressed to Secretary Wells: Mr. George F. Wells, Secretary Lowell Chamber of Commerce, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir: In regard to your communication of the 5th inst., we would say that the legal part of your inquiry has been referred to the city solicitor and the other part, which concerns the election commission, we would disclaim any knowledge of and certainly the said advertisement was not issued with our approval. Very truly yours, LOWELL ELECTION COM. By J. Omer Allard.

At the close of the meeting, Hugh C. McOsker, chairman of the board of election commissioners, expressed the opinion that it was hardly fair for the secretary of the chamber of commerce to insinuate that the commission had any knowledge of the alleged publication and added that once a specimen ballot passes out of the hands of the commission, no responsibility can thereafter exist.

BODY OF JOHN J. CLANCY MAYOR. AS WITNESS ARRIVED HERE TODAY

A sad coincidence in connection with the tragic death of John J. Clancy of this city, which occurred at Metuchen, N. J., last Saturday night, was related today by his companion and heartbroken friend, Michael A. Fleming, also formerly of Lowell, but now supervisor of the Post restaurant at the Marlton arsenal, Metuchen, N. J., who arrived here this morning on the 3.35 train with the body of Clancy.

Fleming and Clancy, when in Lowell, were both members of the Broadway club and close friends. After the war Fleming located in the New Jersey city, following his discharge from the service. He immediately made good there and was soon elevated to supervisor of the government restaurant. Clancy went to visit him about 14 months ago, and upon taking a position there, met with great success, and was soon promoted to a place of responsibility.

The inseparable Lowell boys were highly regarded and respected by their employers and their employees.

JOHN J. CLANCY

and made and held innumerable friends. Last week they decided to make a trip to their home town, Lowell, and they set Monday night of this week as the date of their departure. Fleming went so far as to secure reservations on a New York train for last night. They came over on the very train last night, but not as they expected, for Clancy was dead and Fleming was heartbroken at his solemn duty of acting as escort for his chum.

The Fatal Accident

On Saturday night in answer to a telephone call from Fleming, Clancy started out to meet him. He was standing near the gate to the arsenal, waiting for a car, when Lyle Howard, superintendent of motor transportation for the arsenal, came along in a Ford car. He invited Clancy to ride with him. Shortly after resuming the party the body of Clancy was found in a Frank Dazek's, came on the machine, and while Howard tried to get out of the way, the trolley and auto met head-on. Clancy was hurled 10 feet and was instantly killed. The auto was demolished.

After waiting a reasonable time, Fleming who could not understand Clancy's failure to arrive, became nervous and went out to the arsenal. Upon hearing of the accident he was grief stricken. He immediately took charge of the body, notified the victim's mother, and announced that he would accompany the body to Lowell. Another close friend of both the victim and Fleming, a Mr. Hurley, also came to Lowell.

The body was met at the depot this morning by Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons and later it was removed to the Clancy home, 550 Broadway, from where the funeral will take place on Thursday morning.

Deceased was a popular member of the Broadway club and the local council K. of C. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Nellie Clancy; two brothers, Peter and Charles; and three sisters, Mary, Sarah and Helen.

Mr. Fleming announced today that the residents in the vicinity of the arsenal sent their sympathy to the bereaved family and also gave him a large sum to secure floral pieces.

Committee Begins Investigation of New York City Administration

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The committee appointed by the last legislature headed by Senator Schuyler M. Meyer to investigate the city administration today began its public hearings and summoned Mayor John F. Hylan as the first witness.

Lusk Not at Hearing

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Senator Clayton R. Lusk, who got a costly silver service from New York detectives in appreciation of his fathering their bill in the last legislature, declined to sit as a member of the Meyer investigating committee when its public hearings began today in city hall, with Mayor Hylan on the witness stand to account to the state for his official acts.

Formal announcement of the majority leader's practical withdrawal was made yesterday by Senator Schuyler M. Meyer, chairman of the committee. Mr. Meyer stated that he had received notice Mr. Lusk was not going to participate in the committee's deliberations, adding that as ex-officio member he was not expected to sit with all legislative committees in public hearings. As leader of the senate, Mr. Lusk is a member of all committees representing that body, but nothing in the legislative rules prescribes that he must take active part in committee deliberations.

Although not part of the formal announcement, it was stated on Senator Lusk's behalf that he was afflicted with hay fever and had gone to his country home near Cortland to stay until he recovers. He may sit in with the committee later in its private conferences. The other ex-officio members are Senator James J. Walker, democratic leader of the senate; Simon Adler and Charles D. Donohue, majority and minority leaders of the assembly. They are expected to be present at the opening sessions.

Senator Meyer and his associates refused to comment on a report that Senator Lusk had been requested to remain away. The understanding was, however, that the decision had been left entirely with Mr. Lusk.

VICTIM OF ASSASSINS

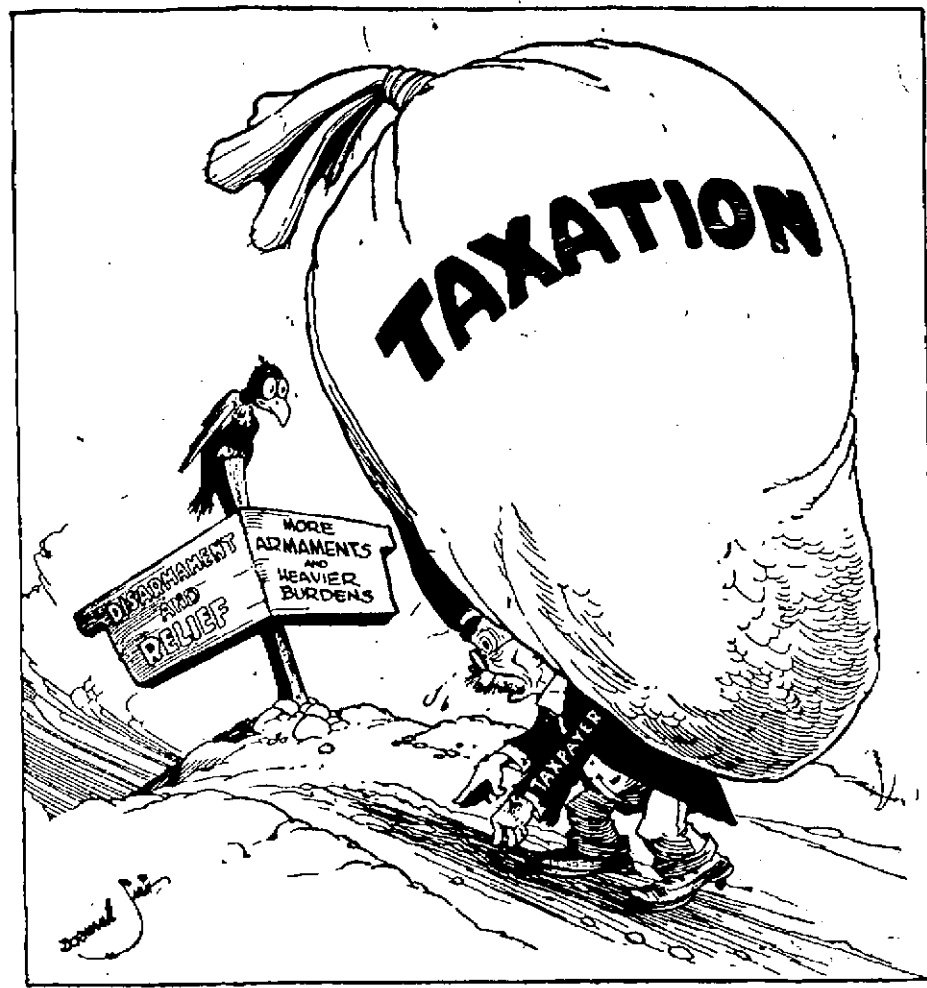

Gen. Robles, Brother of Mexican Minister to Spain Slain in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 8.—General Jose Robles, brother of the Mexican minister to Spain and of the editor of the newspaper, El Democrita, was shot and killed last evening as he drove his automobile through one of the main streets in the residence section of this city. Five armed men took part in the attack. Following the tragedy, General Jacinto Trevino, director of the federal commission revising the army service records, placed himself at the disposal of the police, and it is said to have been held upon his own recognition.

The cause of the attack upon General Robles is declared to have been a declaration purporting to have been made by him published yesterday morning in which he criticized General Trevino, who has been bitterly attacked by the newspaper, El Universal, for several days. This newspaper's charges against General Trevino caused him to threaten Felix F. Palavicini, editor of the Journal, who retaliated by printing many interviews with prominent Mexicans sustaining his right to criticize public officials. General Robles was among those quoted. He not only assailed General Trevino as an official, but declared that General Trevino had refused to fight a duel with him.

A close guard was placed over the plint of El Universal last night and entrance to the building was obtained only after proper identification.

The quarrel between General Trevino and General Palavicini has been one of the most interesting incidents in this city for many months.

Harry Clappas, alleged razor wielder who eluded the police for months but was recently captured in Biddeford, Me., appeared in the local police court this morning to answer a charge of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon on Speres Thomas, March 16. He was held in bonds of $500 for a continuance to August 17. Thomas and the defendant mingled, it is claimed, in a poolroom at O'Connell park. As a result of the fray Thomas was hurriedly taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, suffering from sundry wounds about the head and face.

Immediately after the slashing, Clappas disappeared, and repeated police efforts to locate him proved futile. For many weeks he remained at large, despite the forwarding of his description to many departments. A peculiar phase of the matter lies in the fact that some time prior to his alleged offence, Clappas officiated at the police court as interpreter in an assault with intent to kill case, in which the complainant's nose was bitten half off, and he was nearly strangled by cloths twisted about his neck and gags affixed to his mouth.

FORD AND BIG TRUCK IN COLLISION

John Mullen, a resident of Chelmsford, received a painful injury to his arm, when a big automobile truck owned by the Chelmsford Ginger Ale company and a Ford touring car, the property of James Mullen, also of Chelmsford, collided in Chelmsford street last evening. The Ford was wrecked, while the truck was slightly damaged.

The accident occurred at about 10.30 o'clock at a point beyond Stevens street. The truck, which was being operated by Allen Crafts of Chelmsford, was on its way to the Centre, when the Ford, operated by James Mullen, was coming towards Lowell. The two machines came together, and it is claimed the truck severed to the right over the electric car tracks into a telegraph pole and then turned over into an adjoining field. Mullen was treated by Dr. Durathof of Chelmsford and later was taken to his home. The drivers of the two machines escaped without injuries.

MEETING OF SINN FEIN CABINET

Members of Parliament Released From Prison Received by de Valera

Informal Meeting Held at Mansion House—English Visitors in Dublin

DUBLIN, Aug. 9.—(By the Associated Press).—All the members of the Irish republican parliament, who have been released from prison, were received today by Eamonn de Valera, at the Mansion House.

Although the meeting was not of a formal character, it is understood that the conference considered the desirability of making a joint statement on conditions at the Ballymarrin internment camp, of which members who have been released make serious complaint.

The release from prison of John J. McKewen was received with great relief by newspapers of all shades of opinion.

For the first time in many years there were numerous English visitors here today to attend the horse show.

JOB SEEKERS LAND IN POLICE COURT

Five down-and-outers spent last night in free sleeping quarters at the station house, and appeared in the police court this morning charged with being seditious persons. It appeared that the entire quietest corner of the station house had been taken over by a group of men from other cities who had come to Lowell in a desperate but vain search for honest work. One of the group said his home was in South Dakota, but the others had migrated from nearby cities. The threadbare clothes and the discouraged aspect of all bore eloquent testimony to the effects of unemployment conditions. Judge Enright, after questioning each briefly, allowed the five to go. Some time after the adjournment of court, one of them was sitting disconsolately in a doorway. Apparently again frustrated in his search for work to provide himself with food and shelter.

Planned Over Release

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The release of John J. McKewen has made the best possible impression in Ireland, and a majority of the papers in London which comment on the incident agree that the government has acted wisely.

The actual departure of McKewen from Mountjoy prison, Dublin, was quiet, without any noteworthy demonstration. A few friends met him at the prison gate, and a small crowd of sympathizers cheered him as he drove away.

"My release is an acceptance of my attitude that my act was an act of war," said McKewen. "Therefore it is clear that it is a final abandonment of any claim by the enemy that the Irish war is murder. If I had not been a soldier of my nation I would not have been chosen the representative of the people. It is obvious that my fellow soldiers in jails and camps now must be similarly recognized."

"Likely to Accept"

LONDON, Aug. 9.—After inquiries in well-informed quarters, the Dublin correspondent of the London Times learns that the government is likely to accept the release of McKewen.
